ALBANIANS MARCH ON USKUP

Force of 30,000 Advance on City Now Occupied by Troops of Serbia

Turkish Army Defending Dardanelles Suffer Defeat at Hands of Bulgars

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 6.—The newspaper Le Turc says that a force of 30,000 Albanians is marching on the city of Uskup, which is now occupied by Serbian troops.

TURKISH TROOPS DEFEATED
SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 6.—The Turkish army occupying the peninsula of Gallipoli and defending the Dardanelles suffered a defeat at the hands of the Bulgarian troops to the south of the River Kavak yesterday, according to a statement by the Bulgarian war office today.

The Ottoman troops are said to be retreating in disorder toward Bulair, a small town to the northeast of the city of Gallipoli, pursued by the Bulgarians.

The statement concludes that as the result of this success of the Bulgarian troops the whole coast of the Sea of Marmora, as far as Bulair, is now in the hands of the Balkan allies.

THE MAIN OBJECT OF THE BULGARIAN armies, apart from the reduction of the fortress of Adrianople, was disclosed in the dispatches given out by the war office today. The plan is to reach the Dardanelles Straits and clear them for the passage of the Greek fleet into the Sea of Marmora. Then the Greeks will attack Constantinople directly from the sea.

From the reports of the fighting to the north of the peninsula of Gallipoli it can be seen that one column of King Ferdinand's troops is marching straight for the city of Gallipoli. It has occupied already the villages of Medetate, Charkeul, Kavak and Bulair, which are on the neck of the peninsula.

It has not yet, however, come into contact with any large force of Turkish troops, of which there are said to be 70,000 on the Gallipoli peninsula. The guns of the Dardanelles forts also can be trained toward the land side.

PREDICT SPEEDY END.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Notwithstanding Bulgaria's warlike attitude at Gallipoli, the diplomats of Europe are convinced that the war will not last long.

The financial embarrassment of all the combatants and the loss of enthusiasm for the war by the peoples of the countries involved lead to the belief that peace negotiations will soon be resumed.

The Turkish government apparently is of the same mind, for Rehad Pasha, leader of the Turkish peace delegation, has received instructions from his government to remain in London a few days longer.

FIGHT FOR SPOILS.

SOFIA, Feb. 6.—Difficulties which have arisen between Greece and Bulgaria as to the division of the spoils of the Balkan war and as to the fate of the captured fortress of Saloniki were the reason for a visit paid to the Bulgarian capital today by Premier Venizelos of Greece.

M. Venizelos conferred with Prime Minister Guechoff of Bulgaria and King Ferdinand. It is hoped that his visit will result in an agreement.

WIFE SHOT BY ENRAGED HUSBAND

Patrick Esposito, Following Quarrel, Fires at Fleeing Spouse and Daughter

Assailant Who Was Probationer, Makes Night Attack; Sought by Police

Following an altercation with his wife Patrick Esposito, 3105 Linden street, it is charged, drove her and his daughter into the street last night by threatening them with a revolver and took two shots at the fleeing women, wounding his wife severely. Esposito escaped before the police could be notified. Mrs. Esposito is suffering from the snook and from a wound in the right arm, which may have fractured the bone.

Esposito, who was recently arrested and found guilty of peddling liquor from what was ostensibly a wagon for a cleaning and dyeing works, is being sought by the police and a warrant will probably be issued today charging him with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

Esposito, according to Inspectors Richard McSorley and William Emigh, has been in the habit of abusing his wife and children and on one occasion he is said to have attacked his wife with a large scuffling. Last night the two engaged in a lengthy altercation and finally Esposito became enraged. "Get out of the house," he shouted wildly and rushed to his room. He returned with a large caliber revolver, which he pointed at his wife, according to the police report.

"Don't shoot, mamma," cried Lillian Esposito, the 15-year-old daughter.

WOMEN FLEE.

According to the story told by the women, mother and daughter ran from the room, followed by the man, who was cursing and threatening them with the loaded weapon. The two women succeeded in getting to the street before Esposito opened fire. As they started along Linden street Esposito fired two shots, one of which took effect in his wife's arm.

Mrs. Esposito continued running down the street, aided by the girl. The man returned to the house to obtain his hat and then rushed away in the darkness.

Mrs. Esposito was aided by neighbors and a physician was summoned. She lost much blood before the wound was dressed and is in a serious condition.

The shots were heard by Patrolman Stocker, who lives in the neighborhood. Stocker hurried to the scene, but Esposito had already made his escape. The central police office was notified and a search was made for the man.

ESPOSITO ON PROBATION.

Esposito was out on probation from the Berkeley courts. He had been captured while driving a cleaning and dyeing wagon above the college city, from which he needed a poor brand of whiskey in violation of provisions of the city charter.

It was found when the case came up in court that he had a wife and seven children dependent upon him and, on his promise of good behavior, he was released on probation.

ATTORNEY AND FAMILY HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

BODY OF VICTIM OF FORMER FIRE IS NEXT DOOR

TWO VIEWS OF RUINS OF GORDON HALL RESIDENCE IN BERKELEY. THE LOWER SHOWING THE FALLING CHIMNEY, CAUGHT BY THE CAMERA WHEN FIREWREN WRECKED IT THIS MORNING.

CHILDREN SAVED IN BLAZE

Residence of Gordon Hall, in Berkeley, Destroyed at Loss of $25,000

Watchman Arouses Occupants; 'Professors' Row' Threatened at 2 a. m.

BERKELEY, Feb. 6.—Fighting their way through flames and smoke which swept their residence in "Professors' Row" at an early hour this morning, Gordon Hall, an attorney, and his wife carried their three children to safety.

Nightwatchman Hugh MacDonald discovered flames in the basement of the residence in Bancroft way, east of College avenue, shortly before 2 o'clock and aroused the sleeping inmates. Before Mr. and Mrs. Hall could quit their beds the whole east side of the house, including the main stairway, was ablaze.

Seizing their children, Gordon, Bolton and Vinton, all under 6 years of age, they made their escape by a stairway in the opposite side of the house. Three domestics, occupying chambers on the lower floor, had already quit the building.

VICTIM OF FORMER FIRE.

In the residence next door of Professor E. J. Wickson, former dean of the university department of agriculture, lay the remains of the victim of a former fire, Miss Nora Lawrence. Mrs. Wickson's sister, Miss Lawrence, was killed in an apartment house fire in Sacramento Sunday. Her funeral was held this afternoon.

On the other side the residence of Professor J. N. Le Conte, of the university department of mechanics, was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars. The building was saved from total destruction only by the energetic work of the firemen, but despite a general alarm and the prompt response of all companies in the city, the Hall residence burned to the ground.

LOSS IS $25,000.

The total loss is $25,000, the building being insured to the extent of $10,000. With it was destroyed a quantity of silver and cut glass, treasured wedding gifts, valued at $500.

Gordon Hall purchased the residence burned this morning from Professor George H. Howison, emeritus professor of philosophy, but a short time ago. The three adjoining houses, owned originally by Professors Wickson, Howison and Le Conte, have been "Professors' row" in campus parlance for years.

One of the animals was instantly killed and Duarte had great difficulty in getting out of the way of the writhing coar.

Death Follows Riot Of Garment Workers

Rochester Clothing Man Shoots Into Strikers and Kills Woman.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Feb. 6.—Five leaders of the garment workers' strike are under arrest today charged with inciting riots. Valentine Saulor, proprietor of a clothing shop, is also in prison on a charge of first degree murder. The arrests followed a riotous attack on Saulor's shop last night, when Ida Berman, one of the strikers, was killed by a charge from a shotgun which the clothing man fired into the crowd. Three others were injured, but all of them will recover.

To Probe Alleged Weights Manipulation

President and Secretary of Fuel Company to Appear Before Grand Jury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Subpoenas to appear before the federal grand jury were served today on J. C. Howard, president of the Western Fuel company, and D. A. Norcross, its secretary.

The government began last night an investigation of charges that coal was being imported from British Columbia, Australia and New Zealand for less than the full duty by manipulation of weights and the checking system. District Attorney McHugh would make no statement today of the impact the alleged fraud might reach. Howard and Norcross insisted they knew of no irregularities.

Millionaire Contractor Dies Suddenly in Auto

Talentire R. Hutchinson, millionaire, president of the Hutchinson Construction Company, and for the last 55 years a resident of Oakland, died as the result of a stroke of apoplexy this morning at 10 o'clock while on his way in an automobile to the Hutchinson quarries near Stoga. He was alone with the driver of the machine at the time. Dr. Adams of Richmond was called, but the stricken man passed away without regaining consciousness. The remains were brought to Oakland.

The deceased was 72 years of age and is survived by one son and three daughters. The son is Thomas R. Hutchinson, manager of the firm. The daughters are Mrs. Ernest Pioxotto of New York, Mrs. W. B. Pringle of San Mateo and Mrs. Bernard Ransome of Oakland. The family is one of the best known in the bay section, where it has occupied a prominent position for many years. Since the opening of the Hotel Oakland Hutchinson has resided there. His death is one that will be sincerely felt in all circles. As a business man he was known for his integrity and progressive spirit. He was a generous giver to charitable causes. His giving was always made without ostentation and with a spirit of generosity. The loss has surely been felt in this community.

18 Miles of Copper Wire Is Thieves' Loot

Even Poles Were Stolen by Culprits; Jun Shops Are Searched.

KINGMAN, Ariz., Feb. 6.—Mohave county officials were informed today that 18 miles of copper wire leading from the power station at Needles to the gold mines at Tom Reed had been stolen and that eight tons of it had been shipped to Los Angeles. Even the poles were taken by the thieves who did their work so thoroughly that they left no trace for officers who were detailed to search for them.

The wire was of heavy copper valued at $1000 per mile. That part of it which was not shipped to Los Angeles was found coiled on the banks of the Colorado river, near Needles. Arizona officers wired the Los Angeles police today asking them to search the junk shops for the stolen wire.

Florida Wireless Reaches Alaska

A Message From Key West to Mare Island Easily Heard at Eagle.

SEATTLE, Feb. 6.—The wireless operator at the United States army post at Eagle, Alaska, heard the government station at Key West, Fla., sending a message to Mare Island, Cal., December 18, according to mail advices received today. The Eagle operator heard Key West's signal clearly, but Mare Island complained of static interference. The distance in an air line from Key West to Eagle is more than 4000 miles. Clinician's conditions in Alaska are ideal for wireless communication, say the government operators.

THIS GIRL HAS LAND TO BURN

Indian Maid Owner of Three Allotments of Valuable Oil and Gas Land.

MUSKOGEE, Ok., Feb. 6.—Most persons would consider themselves in luck to own just one allotment of Oklahoma land on which oil had been found. But to own three such allotments, and each under a different name, and to have two guardians, each supposing that he is the real and bona fide guardian, is the record of a Creek Indian girl of Muskogee. This strange situation was discovered several days ago by agents of the Dawes Commission. The name of the girl is withheld until legal steps may be taken in connection with her badly complicated affairs. Her parents live in Muskogee. The girl appears to be innocent of any intent to do wrong and voluntarily appeared before the commission to make known her predicament, saying that she was besieged by persons who wished to lease her allotments for oil and gas purposes.

The records show that the girl had been allotted land under her school name, under her tribal name and under the English name by which her father is known in Muskogee. She is a minor and her guardians in Hughes and McIntosh counties had been appointed without her knowledge or consent, and the fact that she had been enrolled under three different names was not brought to her attention until oil men began trying to get leases on her lands. It has been decided to bring suit before a United States Commissioner to annul two of the allotments.

Are you the same man who signed a lease here a few days ago?" he was asked.

The Indian admitted that he was the same man, but explained that he had two allotments, each under a different name. Both parcels are rich in oil and gas. The allotment of the first name had been made to him. There are numerous cases of more than one allotment to the same individual.

Judge Ralph Campbell decided lately in the United States District Court at Muskogee that the innocent purchaser of an allotment has no right to it. This decision stirred landowners to inquire about their titles.

HUBBY LETS ME GO TO SCHOOL

Girl Bride Enjoys Novelty of the Situation; Wedding Trip Next Summer.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 6.—"I'm glad my husband means Mr. Walker is going to allow me to continue my education and complete my education. I think it'll be just time to be a schoolgirl and a married woman all at the same time. I haven't got used to the novelty of the idea, yet, but I like it all right this far."

This is the statement of pretty 16-year-old Mrs. Grady Walker, formerly Miss Omie Thompson, of 288 Ashby street, West End, this city, whose elopement caused her father, John J. Thompson, to be restrained by detectives until he became reconciled to the situation.

The girl-bride was busy with her school books on the morning after the elopement, preparing for a recitation of her lessons at a private school for girls, where, on the previous afternoon, she was given a dramatic reception and ovation by the girls of the whole school when the facts became known.

"I have an extra teacher now, and I'm going to make him help me every night," Mrs. Walker confidently told the girls. It will take two years to complete the course.

"I didn't give school or education any thought when I ran away and married my husband," Mrs. Walker said, "but I'm delighted that he feels as I do about my schooling."

Walker and Miss Thompson had been sweethearts for some time. Their attachment was never known until the elopement, which was caused by the father of the girl, who had upon her matrimonial aspirations of his own for his daughter. His anger knew no bounds when he learned of the elopement. He might have done dire things to his daughter's bridegroom if the police had not got to him in time.

The Thompsons are socially prominent throughout the State. She was one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Walker will take a wedding trip next summer during the school vacation.

The Jovian Order, an electrical fraternity, held a rejuvenation banquet at the Hotel Oakland last night in honor of Frank E. Watts, the eleventh reigning Jupiter of the order. Two hundred and fifty attended the banquet, and 125 candidates for membership were initiated, the degree team of San Francisco conducting the initiation. H. H. Halloran, Statesman for California, presided.

The degree team includes: Statesman, H. H. Halloran; Jupiter, H. E. Drendell; Neptune, C. C. Hillis; Vulcan, H. V. Thompson; Pluto, M. L. Scobey; Mars, H. E. Elliott; Apollo, G. I. Kinney; Heracles, J. R. Cole; Aesculap, F. H. Poss; Mercury, W. W. Hanson.

The Jovian Order has over 10,000 members in the United States and Canada. It has for its slogan "All Together, All the Time for Everything Electrical," and its creed is "Co-operation."

In addition to promoting good fellowship among its members, the prime object of the organization is to bring about better conditions in the electrical industry. The membership of the order is made up of electrical contractors, dealers, telephone, street, railway and power plant men.

TIGHTS BRANDED QUESTION OF SALARY, NOT MORALITY

McNab's Criticism of Miss Mayne Arouses Actresses in Oakland

That tight, worn by actresses, are a question of salary and not morality, and that Assistant District Attorney John L. McNab, of San Francisco, should receive numerous dire punishments, ranging from a horse-whipping to tar and feathers, is the unanimous opinion of actresses appearing in Oakland, as the result of that official's attack on Elizabeth Mayne, who figured in the recent sensation connected with the arrest of Dr. Samuel Weiss, who sent the actress an obscene note.

"A horse-whip is the remedy for this man," declares Maude Beatty, at the Columbia.

"The man is a coward," says Ethel Hoag, at the Orpheum.

McNab, at the trial of Dr. Weiss, declared that Miss Mayne deserved no consideration, as she wore tight to excite the minds of men. He referred to her as "that creature."

"ASTONISHED AT STATEMENT."

"One might expect a statement that women on the stage who wear tight are bad," said Miss Beatty, "from a hoodlum, but never from an attorney, presumed to have intelligence. The horse-whip is a good punishment for a man who would attack a decent woman for earning her living."

"Seppie" McNell, directress of the Pantages, is no less severe in her denunciation of the attorney. "I have known hundreds of women on the stage," declared Miss McNell, "and they were tight whenever the business called for it. It was their bread and butter. Many supported mothers by wearing them."

"Tights," declared Ethel Hoag, appearing with Alf Grant, at the Orpheum, "are a matter of business purely, and have nothing to do with her morality. Salary alone is the thing affected."

Some evil-minded persons think differently. It is but an unfortunate feature of the business. I have worn tight, and I certainly haven't got any immoral logic. He has forgotten to mention women who wear immodest bathing suits."

"WILLING TO WEAR THEM."

"Some men's idea of tight is one of the unfortunate things of the theatrical business," declared Janet Louden, appearing at the Pantages. "Of course, I never have worn them, being in a different line, but if ever it becomes necessary, I will certainly do so, and will not be ashamed of it."

"Adam and Eve were pretty decent people. What would be said, however, if they went into vaudeville? This Mayne girl was right, and showed the courage of her convictions when she showed the authorities that letter. The man should have been given ten years."

Vilma Stech, subrette at the Columbia, doesn't wear tight, but she knows many a good woman who does, and thinks that tar and feathers are too good for Miss Mayne's critic.

"It was a disgraceful attack," said Miss Stech, "and I think the man should well be ashamed. He is a coward and never wear tight, probably because I have never been ordered to. If orders say tight, I wear tight. I do not believe I would be any the worse for it, nor would any other woman."

LILY LANGTRY PROTESTS.

Actresses in San Francisco are no less angered at McNab's statement. Lily Langtry, appearing at the Orpheum, expresses herself vigorously on the subject.

"What a cruel thing to say about a woman," she said after reading McNab's statement, in which he declared that she was a creature who welcomed the physician's letter as an opportunity to get her name and her tight into the newspapers.

"Merely because one wears skimpy clothes to satisfy a manager does not signify a lack of virtue," continued the Jersey Lily. "Clothes, after all, are a question only of climate. Should we declare immoral all the South Sea Islanders who go about clothed only in the light of nature? Imagine any one so provincial as to narrow to think that morality depends on the amount of clothing worn."

"It has been my experience, that sanctimonious persons usually are the worst. Abandon the credit stage, women with virtue until they go out of their way to prove themselves otherwise; but here in America every one seems to decide at once that 'actress' and 'chastity' are antonyms."

Who is this Mr. McNab? I should say he is seeking the very sort of publicity for which he censures this girl, whom I personally consider very brave. I should advise any district attorney to travel; he might learn much."

Says David Warfield:

"Merely a question of mind over matter, that's all. It's all in one's mind. Tights themselves are quite harmless. A tight fitting skirt is far worse to my mind. Personally, I think this doctor Grimm tapped his forehead as he rose to respond to the knock of a callboy warning him of the approach of the time for his first appearance."

MAYOR ROLPH SCORES POLICE IN COURTROOM

Arraigns Department in Connection With Hoodlums' Attack

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Mayor Rolph scathingly arraigned the police department and the police courts and delivered himself of a series of accusations of a sensational nature when he appeared before Judge Daniel C. Desay shortly before noon today.

"I believe it was my duty to come down here for the protection of the people of the city and county of San Francisco," he began. "The citizens of the Mission are in mortal fear of their lives. The police officers are not supported in the police courts. Now, here is a man who was attacked by hoodlums on the street. It is a thing that is happening every day; cases are being fixed in the court or being fixed out of the court. It is a shame and a disgrace on the fair name of our city that such things can be."

The cases at bar were that of Joseph O'Kane, Edward R. Argenti, Joseph Donovan and James Carroll, charged with battery. All save O'Kane had been dismissed from court for failure to appear.

HAS INSIDE INFORMATION.

"Take this young man O'Kane," continued the mayor, excitedly. "He is a young athlete. I am told, who glories in his prowess and the strength of his arms and of the fact that he knocked down this citizen. Here is my chauffeur ready to testify to it. I was in my house when this thing occurred. Mrs. Rolph called to me that she heard police whistles and we ran two men running and the next day my chauffeur told me his story."

"It is my idea that there is a gang of hoodlums out there and that they ought to be brought in and made an example of instead of three of them being dismissed and one put on probation."

MAYOR CREATES SURPRISE.

The appearance of the mayor was so sudden and unexpected and his words, spoken in a loud tone, fell upon a crowd of surprised courtroom.

Judge Desay explained briefly what he had done in the case and afterward shook hands with the mayor and agreed with that official that it was time some steps were taken.

Following the proceedings a bench warrant was issued for O'Kane and because of the mayor's determined assertion that he thought a fuller explanation should have been made the matter is all to be threshed out again.

REPORT ON STREET WORK SHOWS BIG IMPROVEMENTS

More Than Million and a Half Spent During 1912 on Streets

Permanent street work put in under the direction of Commissioner of Streets W. J. Eacus in the twelve months ending December 31, 1912, cost $1,675,822.48. This paid for almost five miles of permanent pavement, 17 miles of oil macadam, 81 miles of sanitary sewers, almost 2 miles of storm sewer and 31 miles of sidewalks.

The report was filed with the city council and is as follows:

Herewith I submit for your consideration a summary showing the length and approximate cost of new street work completed during the second half of the year 1912. As the working season for street construction closed with the limit of the calendar year, I take this opportunity to submit also a summary of the new construction work of the past year, together with a statement of the total mileage with the City of Oakland on December 31, 1912, of various classes of improved streets, sewers and sidewalks.

The estimated total cost of new work constructed by contract and completed by my department is $1,675,822.48. This is a large amount in the aggregate, but in my opinion the money has been wisely expended. I think it would be conservative to say that property values, which reflect the safety, healthfulness and convenience that this work has conferred upon property owners and the general public, have been increased two or three times the amount of the cost.

The work done by the department is rapidly reducing the amount of plain macadam. In fact, since July 1, 1911, the amount of plain macadam has been reduced from 247.2 miles, which has enabled us to reduce the cost of sprinkling and give better service.

Some of the principal items that entered into the new construction work are as follows:

Grading, 825,000 square feet, exclusive of railroad work.

Oil macadam, 3,168,000 square feet, requiring about 58,000 tons of material.

Gravel, 30,000 tons of screenings and 550,000 gallons of heavy asphaltic road oil, all exclusive of railroad work.

Asphalt paving, 825,000 square feet.

Concrete, 458,000 square feet; broken rock gutters, grouted, 136,000 square feet; brick gutters, 30,700 feet; wooden curb, 10,000 linear feet; concrete curb, 61,000 linear feet; granite curb, 97,000 linear feet.

It has been the policy of the department to urge permanent pavement in the business district and on main highways only. During 1912 nearly all of the sheet asphalt work was done on streets of character, and many cases closing gaps that interfered with the full use of pavement, already laid, as for example, on Webster street, Franklin street, Twenty-fourth street, Twelfth street, Twentieth street and Fourteenth street are important thoroughfares on which work was done during the coming year. Most of the paving work will be done on main streets leading from the business district of Oakland to important outlying sections or to other cities. Broadway, Telegraph avenue and Grove street are examples of this class of streets on which work will be done, and it would be well to improve them.

Sixteenth street to the Southern Pacific station, and parts of East Fourteenth street.

Oil macadam, which has now entirely replaced water-bound macadam for new construction, has been laid on residence streets, generally upon petition of a majority of the property owners, or by the owners of new tracts of land.

Sewers of various kinds and sizes have been constructed, but as most of this

"MACHINE TOOLS" WILL BE MONOGRAPH SUBJECT

A monograph entitled "Machine Tools in Latin America" is to be issued, shortly by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. This monograph comprises a series of consular reports, a valuable feature of which is the list of firms and individuals in the various countries who sell or use machine tools. Considerable attention is also given to sales methods, credit terms, etc.

The Latin-American countries are largely agricultural, and the demand for machine tools has consequently been limited, but there seems to be an increasing use of such machinery in some quarters, especially in connection with railroad repair work. Copies of the monograph may be had upon application to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

WANTED SIX FEET OF GIRL; GOT HER

Kansas City Man Secured Wife to Match His Height Through Want Ad.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A honeymoon couple, totaling 12 feet 7 inches in height, sailed today for Colon on the steamship Pastores in the persons of A. B. Sanders, of Kansas City, and his wife, formerly of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Sanders stands 6 feet 6 inches and his wife 6 inches less.

Sanders explained that they met about two months ago, when a friend inserted an advertisement in a Kansas City paper reading as follows:

"Wanted—six feet of girl."

The present Mrs. Sanders sent a quick reply to the "ad." and a meeting a few days later culminated in a marriage, and today's first leg of the honeymoon trip.

BONES OF PREHISTORIC HORSE FOUND IN PERU

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—The jawbone and teeth of a prehistoric horse, which may prove to be of a species unknown to the scientific world, are on display in Southern Peru by Dr. Albert A. Gleason, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania. Doctor Gleason is president of the University of Cuzco, Peru, and is on a visit to the University of Pennsylvania, from which he was graduated in 1904. He hopes to induce the university to send an expedition to Peru for the purpose of obtaining a collection of bones of ancient mammals.

Doctor Gleason gives an interesting account of a visit to the ruins of Paracactama, 21 miles from Cuzco, where he unearthed more than 300 bones of prehistoric animals.

"At first," he said, "we found parts of several tusks of the mastodon. In addition to this we found the remains of many other animals. The ribs, bones of the leg and vertebrae were the most common finds, though we found many teeth."

A HINT TO THE HOSTESS.

Pain Unknown in This Dental Office

Patients Enjoy Absolute Comfort While Teeth Are Being Fixed.

Don't let the dread of pain keep you away from the dentist any longer. If you'll come to me you won't have to endure one moment of torture, even though your teeth are in an extremely sensitive condition.

My Terythia method positively eliminates every vestige of pain in dental operations. It enables me to perform the most difficult work on the teeth without causing the patient one bit of discomfort.

I can remove a live nerve from a bad tooth in a couple of minutes, and you won't experience the slightest twinge of pain. Other dentists have to kill the nerve first, which means several days and nights of suffering.

You know how it feels to have a sensitive tooth filled by the old, painful method—how you writhen in agony when the operator gets to work with his merciless little "buzzers." Terythia prevents all such torture by putting the teeth to sleep until the work is finished. You'll never hear any groans or muffled screams in my office. That's because Terythia has "killed" the pain.

Do not think for a minute that I employ gas or dangerous drugs to deaden the nerve feeling, because I don't. Terythia is perfectly harmless and can be used in the system in any way.

I have a feeling of pity for the wearers of partial plates and dentures who have heard of my Rex Alveolar method and are too skeptical to investigate it. Why any person of ordinary intelligence will continue using a filthy, germ-laden plate when he knows it is unnecessary is something I can't understand.

Teeth replaced by the Rex Alveolar method are almost equal to natural teeth in appearance and durability. They are fixed permanently in the jaws and can not be removed. The work of installing them is free from pain and will take up but very little of your time. Any one who can afford plates or bridge work can afford Rex Alveolar teeth.

I don't ask you to put any faith in my claims until I prove them. Call and let me show you what I can do before you spend a dollar. No obligation will be imposed upon you.

Consultation and examination free. Estimates cheerfully furnished. 12-15, 10:30 to 5:30; Sundays, 10 to 12.

Those who can not call should write for the free book explaining my Terythia and Rex Alveolar methods.

HUBBY MAY LET MANY

WOMEN IRON HIS PANTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—To see your husband's trousers tenderly carried by the other woman to the tailor, there to be pressed and creased just as you used to administer to their needs, does not indicate that the new carrier is familiar enough with the owner of the trousers to warrant a wife obtaining a divorce.

This decision was proclaimed today by Justice Ford in adjudging a divorce action brought by Mary J. Gough against her husband, Wallace L. Gough, a rubber importer. Mrs. Gough produced a bell-boy who said he daily saw Gough and a young woman enter an apartment in the new University Court. Mrs. Gough herself saw the young woman escort her husband's panaloons to the tailor shop in the basement.

Justice Ford decided that it would be a most dangerous precedent to grant a divorce on such grounds.

FIREMAN REPRIMANDED.
For insulting a young woman while he was under the influence of liquor, Charles Lamb, driver of fire engine No. 8, was today reprimanded by Commissioner of Public Health and Safety Fred C. Turner and docked three months' pay.

ACCUSED MAN JAILED.
Railroad Officer John Quinn saw several of the men on the train, the arrived at Sixteenth street early this morning. Hastily changing from his uniform into plain clothes, Quinn trailed a man who had "scrapped an acquaintance" with one of the passengers. He followed the bunko man and his intended victim to a Ninth street saloon, and from there telephoned for a policeman. With the aid of the police James May was placed under arrest and will be charged with vagrancy.

May was about to act as cicerone for C. E. Price, a wealthy farmer on his way from Bremerton, Wash., to Brawley, a town in the Imperial valley.

CAPTURE MAN WITH RECORD.
While patrolling his beat at 3:45 this morning Policeman Harry Teple saw a man lurking near the corner of Twenty-eighth and Adeline streets, and succeeded in capturing him. The man gave the name of Frank Burns, and stated that he had come to Oakland to visit a friend who worked for contracting company and who had promised him a job.

People took Burns to the police station as a suspicious character. Identification Expert Harry Caldwell this morning traced the man's record by his fingerprints and measurements and found that his right eye was Comrade Baudry, who had served three terms in the penitentiary. Baudry served three years from Woodland for burglary, one year from Carson City for burglary and three years from Boise City for grand larceny. He has been booked on a vagrancy charge.

COOLIES' ENTRANCE IS MADE EASY BY DECISION, CLAIM

Judge Wellborn Decides That Chinese Is Not Subject to Deportation.

Rules in Favor of Defendant Admitted on Merchants' Certificate.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—A decision which Judge Olin Wellborn handed down today in the Federal Court will make entry to the United States easy for Chinese coolies, according to Charles T. Connell, immigration inspector for the Los Angeles district.

The decision was rendered in the case of Wong Kai, arrested in a laundry at Bakersfield, Cal., in 1909, on a charge of being illegally in the country.

The Chinese produced a certificate of admission as a merchant which he had received from Amos P. Wilder, American consul at Hongkong.

ORDERED DEPORTED.
Despite his merchant's certificate, however, Wong Kai was ordered deported after a hearing before United States Commissioner William M. Van Dyke, in this city, several months ago. He appealed and the decision of Judge Wellborn today resulted.

Judge Wellborn, who based his ruling upon a decision rendered in a similar case in the United States District Court of Appeals, declared that once legally in the United States, a Chinese could engage in any occupation he chose; that therefore Wong Kai was not subject to deportation, as he had been legally admitted on a merchant's certificate.

Government attorneys immediately filed notice of their intention to carry the case to a higher court.

Immigration Inspector Connell said that Judge Wellborn's decision "let down the bars for Chinese coolies, who easily could obtain in China certificates as merchants and then come here and engage in coolie labor."

Information was placed in the hands of the Oakland police this morning concerning the operations of a gang of seven or more confidence men working over the Southern Pacific trains in search of victims from the interior of the state coming to San Francisco and Oakland.

According to the information given the police, the bunks men have reduced the search for victims to a system, and make a practice of traveling on "script mileage" tickets.

The bunks men travel back and forth between Oakland and Davis and Oakland and Sacramento. On the journey toward the bay region they make the acquaintance of men who are "from the country," and propose to show them the city. With the aid of accomplices they victimize the men by alleged gambling games, "get-rich-quick" schemes, or by taking them to secluded places in parks and robbing them.

ELUSIVE CORNERSTONE FOUND IN RUINS

The "Lost" Relic of Old First Presbyterian Church Is Discovered.

Copies of The Tribune of 1876 Prominent Among Relics.

The elusive cornerstone of the old First Presbyterian church at Fourteenth and Franklin streets, was found shortly after 11 o'clock this morning by wreckers who are dismantling the structure. The southeast corner was the stone.

Prior to the laying of the stone of the new church which is being erected at Twenty-sixth and Broadway, the cornerstones of the old structure was sought for weeks. The exact location was not known and the builders were forced to lay the foundation without the contents of the original box of documents and newspapers of 1876.

The masonry papers were inclosed in a tin receptacle, which was rusted badly, and when the cover was first removed it was thought that nothing remained but a heap of dust. With the outer receptacle removed, however, it was discovered that much of the reading matter was still legible.

NO NEW TESTAMENT.
Rev. F. L. Goodspeed was much astonished to find that no New Testament had been incorporated in the contents. The leather backed Bible was badly decomposed, but it was plain that the New Testament was not part of it.

The Bible and the five copies of THE TRIBUNE were the best preserved of the contents of the box. THE TRIBUNE were dated from May 12 to 20, 1876. Copies of the Daily Transcript, the Daily News and Our Sunday School were also found. The records of the Chinese Sunday School were discovered, and after a time the membership roll of the church was found in the same place.

THE TRIBUNE showed that Ben A. Dewes had been the proprietor and publisher at the time and that the offices were at 911 Broadway. The copy of the Sunday School paper was Vol. 1, No. 1, of October, 1876, and had been printed by the First Presbyterian church of Oakland.

A meeting of the church directors was called at Grand avenue and Webster street in the temporary office this afternoon for the purpose of deciding what steps may be taken to preserve the records.

The front wall and towers of the big church fell this afternoon into the foundation excavation with a crash that was heard in all parts of the downtown districts. In falling the two towers separated, one falling toward the Franklin street side for a few feet and the east tower dropping within a few feet of an adjacent building.

LOAN ASSN. BOOKS TAKEN INTO COURT.
Trial of Merits of Case Involving Continental Concern Is Begun.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—In most dramatic fashion and after Attorney Gavin McNab had made it plain that he expected the court to watch carefully over the accounts of the Continental Building and Loan Association, George S. Coburn, son of W. J. Coburn, secretary of the corporation, walked into Judge Seawell's court this morning with four guards loaded with books and records.

"I expect the books of the association in court in a few minutes," McNab had declared a short time before, "and I am going to turn them over the clerk of the court. I believe Mr. Mulervy, the clerical clerk, and his deputies will be able to prevent their being stolen by the sheriff and his assistants at the instance of this. (Pointing to George S. Walker, the building and loan commissioner, who was on the witness stand.)"

Today for the first time the actual trial of the merits of the case involving the Continental concern was begun before Judge Seawell. The proceedings were instituted by Walker in order that the court might ratify his action in seizing possession of the corporation and in closing its doors. The commissioner was represented by Assistant Attorney General Robert Harrison and Attorney E. B. Fowles.

Gavin McNab, B. F. Aldins, R. S. Henshaw and A. H. Jarman appeared for the Continental Building and Loan Association. Walker testified that he had secured the corporation's books, his expected. J. B. Hassett had discovered book shortage of $250,000. He asked that the latter's report, as well as that of Lester Herriek, auditor of the Continental, and J. L. Field, Walker's assistant, be admitted in evidence.

The court allowed them to go in only to support Walker's showing.

CLAIMS UNSOUNDNESS.
Commissioner Walker insisted that the management of the association was unsound and the funds of its depositors unsafe in the hands that now control them.

Commissioner Walker seeks permission to liquidate the Continental. He is opposed by Attorney McNab for the directors, who wish to conduct the liquidation themselves.

Commissioner Walker asked the officers of the Continental recently cracked the safe and came away with a cache of corporate records. He refused following the raid, to compel Gavin McNab, who has the books, to surrender them until the procedure in liquidation had been settled.

Commissioner Walker testified that a year before he ordered the Continental closed, the late Judge Sweeney, president of the association and superintendent of the San Francisco Mint, had come to him to say that he believed the management unsound. Judge Sweeney died of heart failure, hastened, his friends said, by worry over the plight of the Continental.

SACRIFICE IS IN VAIN.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—F. L. Maxwell, retired, whose daughter gave several pints of her blood in an effort to save his life, died at the German hospital this morning. Maxwell was found unconscious from gas asphyxiation at 60 Seventh street on Saturday morning.

HAS STAGE FRIGHT FOR FIRST TIME

Show Girl Has the "Strangest Feeling" at Divorce Suit Hearing.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Viola Williams, a showgirl, upset all Broadway traditions when she suffered an attack of stage fright and actually forgot her "lines."

It happened in Justice Erlanger's part of the supreme court, where the young woman was asking the judge for a divorce from Charles H. Williams, a New England theater owner, whom she married in Denver four years ago. She recognized a photograph of her husband, who she said had transferred his time and affections to another woman. She remembered when she was married and said there was no suit pending in any other court.

"Have five years elapsed since the offenses you complain of were committed?" asked her lawyer.

"Yes, oh, yes, sir," she answered nervously.

BONDING PERMIT IS NOT GRANTED

The Commission Refuses to Approve United Railroads Plan for Issue.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—The State Railroad Commission yesterday rendered a decision denying the application of the United Railroads for a permit to issue $2,350,000 of 6 per cent five-year notes and of the Market-Street Railway Company to issue as collateral for these notes $2,150,000 of its 5 per cent bonds. In denying the application the commission not only criticizes the financial management of the United Railroads, but it declares that the condition of the United affords a striking illustration of the evils of over-capitalization.

The commission says that it appeared from the minutes books of the United Railroads that on December 21, 1908, the common capital stock was reduced in the sum of $1,200,000, and that on February 9, 1909, this sum was credited to profit and loss. It adds that by this process "a false surplus was set up, and if out of this false surplus any part of the regular yearly dividend of $350,000 on the first preferred stock was paid, this was not only improper, but illegal."

The commission states that it finds by the same minute book that on May 25, 1910, four years' "back salary" was voted to Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads of San Francisco, in the sum of $75,000 a year, or a total of $300,000. Of this the commission says: "No explanation is made of this item, but it at once suggests the necessity of a thorough investigation in order to determine the items claimed by applicant as operating expenses of the United Railroads over a series of years."

The commission states that it finds also that the item "cash invested in securities for sinking funds" in the amount of $4,062,518.30 is credited to profit and loss account, or surplus.

The commission's findings in regard to the sinking funds are based upon a report made to the directors of the United Railroads on January 25, 1912, by two of its own directors, Charles Holbrook and Thos. M. Mulhally. In this report it is certified to the directors that there are in the sinking funds, among other securities, the following:

United Railways Investment Company's 6 per cent serial notes	782,241.93
United Railways Investment Company's convertible gold debentures	1,228,000.00
Promissory note of Patrick Calhoun, dated May 23, 1911	20,000.00
Total	$2,030,241.93

The commission calls attention to the fact that the United Railways Investment Company is the owner of the stock of the United Railroads.

STATE BUILDINGS WILL BE VISITED

Strobridge and Chandler Will Inspect Work of Other Sections.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—Assemblyman W. F. Chandler of Fresno, chairman of the joint committee on the advisability of bonding the state for the erection of new buildings at the various institutions, and for an extension of the capitol, will put in the 30 days' legislative recess visiting as many of the state institutions as he has time to reach, accompanied by Senator Strobridge of Alameda, who also is on the committee.

They also will investigate the appropriations asked for repairs and maintenance of the institutions. The other eight members of the joint committee are to visit state institutions near their homes.

VOCATIONAL WORK PROVES FAILURE

District of Columbia School System to Dismiss Teachers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Although directly under the eye of the federal bureau of education, which has preached vocational training in the public schools of the country, the school system of the District of Columbia apparently has found the experiment more or less of a failure.

Lack of interest in the special classes has made it necessary to suspend several teachers and orders probably will go out today from the board of education granting "forced leave" to several. Some of the special classes were found to be so small that their continuation was deemed inadvisable.

TO ERECT MONUMENT TO SAILORS' MEMORY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Preparations were begun today to erect in Harbor View cemetery in San Pedro a monument to the memory of the seven sailors who lost their lives in an explosion on board the cruiser Tennessee in the Santa Barbara channel in 1908. The shaft arrived yesterday.

There will be a piano solo by Mrs. Ruth Carver, a reading from the works of Eugene Field by Miss Ethel Boscoe, pupil of Miss Elizabeth Makins; a flag dance and other fancy dances by Miss Ruth Burnham. J. D. Maddrell of Berkeley, a talented vocalist, will sing.

Refreshments will be served and dancing will follow. Applications for membership will be received and all Illinoisans are urged to attend and give in their names and home counties for reference. Mrs. A. E. Hall, 723 Thirty-first street, Oakland, is the president and will gladly answer any inquiries.

PALO ALTO MAY TAKE OVER ELECTRIC LINES

PALO ALTO, Feb. 6.—John A. Britton of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company has suggested a plan whereby the city can take over the local distributing lines and business of the company within the municipal limits. Britton broached his plan at a meeting of the corporation with the members of the Palo Alto board of public works. The meeting was held for the purpose of discussing a proposed ordinance requiring all wires carrying more than 6000 volts to be carried underground.

The matter was referred to Engineers Downing and Lisberger of the company and City Engineer Brybee and City Electrician Youens.

DENIED FORTUNE, SUICIDE

SEATTLE, Feb. 6.—Despondent because he had failed to make his fortune, in search of which he had set out from his home in Des Moines, Ia., two years ago, J. C. Taylor, a pharmacist, 30 years old, committed suicide in a lodging house here by taking poison.

VASSAR GIRLS ARE SAVED BY CHUM

Sacramento Student Pulls Four Unfortunates From Icy Water of Lake.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 6.—At the risk of her life Miss Phoebe Briggs, daughter of Dr. William E. Briggs of Sacramento, Cal., jumped into the chilly waters of a frozen lake and saved four of her Vassar chums from drowning. Tonight the heroism of Miss Briggs is the one bright ray which shines out from a toboggan tragedy that has cast a pall over the girls in the famous woman's school.

Five young women, seniors of Vassar college, were borne down Sunset hill last night in a toboggan that crashed through the ice of the artificial lake on the Vassar campus. One of them, Miss Elizabeth B. Mylod, 21 years, was caught under the frozen surface of the water and drowned.

PLUNGES INTO ICY WATER. Herole aid came to the other girls from Miss Phoebe Briggs, an expert swimmer and athlete. She plunged into the icy waters and drew four of the young women to the ice's edge. There they were able to cling until Professor George B. Shattuck pushed out a plank and dragged them to safety.

After dinner the girls took out the big, flat-bottomed, curving bowed Canadian toboggan and dragged it to the top of Sunset hill. The slope is about 300 feet long.

MISS BRIGGS ATHLETE. There were no other tobogganing parties on the hill and the nipping cold had kept most of the other students indoors. But Miss Briggs, who is an indefatigable athlete, was taking a brisk walk about the summit of Sunset hill and had followed with her glance the toboggan with its crew of laughing, merry girls, as it went flying down the white hill, glistening in the moonlight.

She heard the crash and saw the smashing of the ice, the sinking of the toboggan and the girls struggling in the water. She rushed down the hill, dashed out on the ice and leaped into the water. Of the five girls on the toboggan three, she knew, could not swim and the other were only indifferently versed in that accomplishment.

SHE DIVES REPEATEDLY. Miss Briggs said afterward that the two girls who could swim a little kept their heads afloat and it required only a small effort to draw them over to where they could cling to the ice for support. But she had to dive to bring the other girls out from under the ice and into the open water. She dove repeatedly in the hope of rescuing Miss Mylod, but her efforts were in vain.

Professor Shattuck heard the cries in his laboratory and hastened to the lake. He tore away one of the "danger" planks and thrust it out to the imperiled young women. Then he crawled out on the plank and drew the girls one by one out of the water.

HIGH COURT HOLDS SALOONMAN GUILTY

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—The plea that a bartender or agent sold intoxicating liquors to a minor against the express instructions of his principal cannot be received as exculpatory of the defendant.

This conclusion is contained in a decision handed down by the Third District Court of Appeal today in the case of Cherry de St. Maurice, former keeper of a roadhouse, who was convicted of contributing to the delinquency of one Ward Meister, aged 16 years, by selling him liquor. Other points of law settled by the court touch the question of the validity of the juvenile court law and whether, after conviction, has been adjudicated a delinquent by the juvenile court, it was proper to charge the defendant with contributing toward a delinquency that is already in existence. The affirmative was held in both instances.

SPEEDER BARRED FROM AUTOS FOR ONE YEAR

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Municipal Judge Fry hit upon a new plan to cure the speeding habit among automobilists yesterday when he exacted a pledge from Leslie L. Voigtman, son of a wealthy manufacturer, who has been fined repeatedly in the speediest court, to refrain from having anything to do with a motor vehicle within the city limits for one year.

In addition the defendant, who is 22 years old, was assessed a fine of $100, which was paid by his father, making the sixth time the latter has contributed this amount to the city for the same cause. The pledge taken by young Voigtman follows: "I solemnly promise this honorable court not to touch, sit upon, ride in or manipulate any automobile or motorcycle in the city of Chicago during the next year."

DISCLOSE WHEREABOUTS OF AGED MRS. RAYNOR

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—The whereabouts of Mrs. Margaret Raynor, 82 years old, who was alleged to have been abducted by the widower of her daughter, Charles J. Genshlea, was divulged today in the probate department of the Superior Court by Genshlea's attorney. The lawyer said Mrs. Raynor was in the care of Mrs. A. Slaughter, a trained nurse, at 6816 Thorne avenue, this city.

The application of Genshlea for letters of administration for the estate of his dead wife, to whom Mrs. Raynor turned over property valued at $100,000, was given brief judicial attention and then continued until Friday, when, the court ordered, Mrs. Raynor must be produced in court if she were able to go there.

Mrs. Raynor is contesting the claim of her son-in-law to the property she is said to have given to her daughter.

HE'LL BUILD HOME FOR MA-IN-LAW

Assemblyman Stuckenbruck Refuses to Spend Recess With Bills.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—Whether to scan the 4000 bills introduced for "bugs" during the constitutional recess or devote their time to private interests, is a question in the minds of many legislators. Assemblyman J. W. Stuckenbruck of Acampo does not propose to study bills. He is going to build a new house for his mother-in-law, who is soon to come out from Iowa on a visit. "My mother is old and set in her ways," said Stuckenbruck, "and she has always had a house of her own. I guess I'll have to build her one."

Assemblyman H. S. Benedict of Los Angeles, chairman of the judiciary committee, took home with him a small bale of bills which had been referred to his committee.

Assemblyman G. W. Wylie of Dinuba, chairman of the committee on education, was seen walking toward the depot yesterday with his pockets full of bills and packages tied to his overcoat buttons.

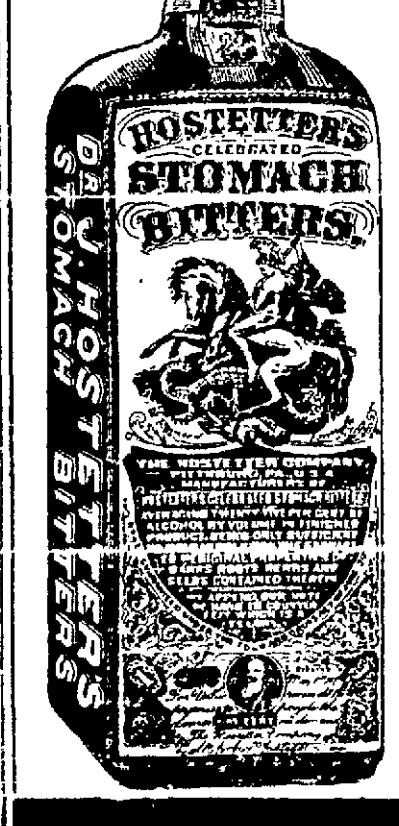

TRUANT HASTENS BACK TO SCHOOL; GIVES FIRE ALARM

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Willie Benson played hooky from a Batavia school to go skating, but he is not going to be punished for it. As Willie was skating on the river near the school he saw flames bursting from the roof beneath which he should have been acquiring knowledge. He rushed to the school, gave the alarm, and 300 pupils marched out in perfect order.

SANTA ROSA, Feb. 6.—Assistant District Attorney G. W. He will enter his formal plea to the charge on Monday.

Talmage has admitted taking the funds of the lodge, although he says he did not take anything like $900.

SOLONS TO THRIVE ON TARIFF BILLS

Digest of 4000 Measures Introduced Will Be Prepared at Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—A booklet containing a digest of each of the nearly 4000 bills introduced in the Legislature during the past thirty days will be upon the desk of every member of both houses when the Senate and Assembly reconvene March 10, if plans laid by Secretary of State Jordan do not go awry. Part of his office force was set to work yesterday classifying and studying the bills, which are to be segregated into about thirty classes, and as fast as one classification is completed it will be given out for publication. Copies of the completed pamphlet will be available for general distribution.

Some of the more important classifications will be taxation, appropriation, fish and game, labor, revision of civil and criminal code and procedure, normal schools, the University of California, anti-trust land ownership and Asiatic exclusion, public morals, reclamation and drainage, and harbor legislation.

A great sigh of relief went up yesterday from the few Legislators still in town when they heard of Secretary Jordan's plans. Some who had counted the bills over their fingers already had estimated that even if they pursued 100 bills a day during the thirty-day recess they would have to leave 1000 unread if they answered the roll call on March 10.

More proposed legislation dealing with fish and game has been introduced at the present session of the Legislature than on any other subject, excepting perhaps amendments to the civil, penal and civil procedure codes.

CHIEF CONTRIBUTOR.

Assemblyman J. H. Gull Jr. of Chico, chairman of the Fish and Game Committee of the Assembly, is the chief contributor of these measures. Another member who is anxious to see the fish and game laws revamped is Assemblyman Harry Paisley of Red Bluff, who has presented a score or more of bills with reference to this subject.

Scarcely one-third as many fish and game bills have been introduced in the Senate as have found their way into the lower house files.

Legislative chambers in the Capitol practically were deserted today for the first time since January 6. Activity was confined to packing up books and papers to forward them to the members who had left the previous day for their homes.

Hotel lobbies, which had been crowded since the early part of last month seemed deserted today. Almost every member of either house had joined the exodus of law-making homeward bound by this afternoon.

State Printer Richardson today announced it would be fully ten days before he could complete the printing of all bills, amendments and resolutions. The bills will be sent out by the mailing rooms either house as they are returned from the printer.

The bill filing and mailing rooms are the busiest places in the Capitol now. A full corps of assistants are working long hours sending out bills to libraries, chambers of commerce and other places designated. In addition they are preparing complete files of bills to send to the members.

The last of the bills will probably not be sent out for another two weeks, which will limit the time in which the people will have to consider the measures introduced the last few days of the session to two weeks.

URGES SUIT TO PROTECT WATER

The State Commission Recommends Action Against State of Nevada.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—Action against the state of Nevada in the United States Supreme Court for the protection of the waters of Lake Tahoe is recommended in the report of the state water commission issued yesterday. The report says:

"We believe that immediate action should be taken by this state to protect its interest in the waters of Lake Tahoe, and therefore recommend the institution of a suit against the state of Nevada in the Supreme Court of the United States for the purpose of having the water of Lake Tahoe and the Truckee river duly apportioned in accordance with the decision of the Kansas vs. Colorado case."

"In addition to the bringing of this suit, we believe that complaint on behalf of the state should also be filed against the Truckee General Electric Company to restrain it from storing flood waters of the lake. The importance and necessity of instituting these suits cannot be too strongly emphasized in order that the rights of the state of California may be fully protected."

The federal law relating to the disposition of water power sites is attacked as totally inadequate. The report states that the power of revocation without compensation has caused great alarm in the eyes of capital, and rightfully, and adds that:

"The confidence that the power to revoke permits would not be abused by the head of a department was dispelled by the action of a former secretary of the interior in calling upon the city of San Francisco (which had been granted a permit under the act for its municipal supply in Hetch-Hetchy) to show cause why the permit should not be cancelled. This action was taken regardless of the fact that the city of San Francisco had complied with all the terms of the permit."

LIVE WIRE KILLS.

SANTA CRUZ, Feb. 6.—When the wife and two children of Frank A. Cease, who recently came from San Jose to work in an electric power house at Davenport, near here, arrived at their new home, they found Cease lying unconscious from a shock experienced by coming in contact with live wires an hour or two before. He died soon afterward.

NATIVE ALASKANS DOOMED, SAYS M. D.

Dr. Krulish Predicts That Diseases Introduced by the Whites Kill All.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Extermination of the native population of Alaska within 50 or 60 years through the ravages of tuberculosis and other diseases introduced by the white man, is predicted by Dr. Emil Krulish of the public health service. Dr. Krulish today reported to the federal bureau of education of the investigation he has just completed. He paints a dreary picture of the future for the native Alaskans unless steps are taken immediately to ameliorate their condition.

"Where work along scientific lines has been undertaken," says Dr. Krulish, "the betterment of the Indians is everywhere apparent." He complains, however, that the rescue work is not widespread enough, and advocates a much larger force of physicians and field nurses who would teach the natives the laws of hygiene.

It is pointed out in the report that there are no funds available for the erection of hospitals or segregation buildings and these are held to be necessary if comprehensive work is to be done. Physicians, it is said, now are compelled to work in rented buildings unsuitable to caring for the sick and many of which have no conveniences whatsoever.

HAD THREE WIVES; GETS SIX MONTHS

Bigamist Punished Enough, Declares Each Spouse, Glaring at Others.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Isidor Steinberg, sentenced yesterday to four years and six months' imprisonment for bigamy, succeeded in keeping three establishments going for three years—all in the same neighborhood—without one of the plural wives knowing it. All three wives were in court. Each pleaded that the judge be lenient.

"I think he has been punished enough," wife No. 3 said, glancing contemptuously at wife No. 2 and No. 1.

"He must have had an unpleasant experience with his first wife," pleaded wife No. 2.

"Could you blame him, judge," cried wife No. 3, "for trying to get away from those two women?"

All the wives have from one to five children by Steinberg.

CABARET SHOWS ARE PLACED UNDER BAN

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—"Cabaret" entertainments are placed under the ban by a police order issued by Director of Public Safety Foster. More than a quarter of a century ago a License Court judge in this city laid down the dictum that "beer and music do not mix." Of late years this injunction has been obeyed more in the breach than in the observance.

The presence of music has not been objected to by the authorities until recently, when the presence of "cabarets" caused the director to order an investigation and the issuance of the order.

CHAMPION SNORER NOW SEEKS MUFFLER

WINSTED, Conn., Feb. 6.—Charles H. Barruther, who has had reputation of being the loudest snorer here, has offered a reward of $100 to any one who will break him of the habit. The disturbance he creates in his own home, did not tempt him to make the offer, but embarrassment encountered in New York when he went to get a Turkish bath. He remained at the bathhouse over night and happened to wake up at 5 a. m. Everybody on the same floor was talking and cursing because he hadn't been able to sleep all night.

CURES RHEUMATISM

Quickly Eases Stiff, Sore and Swollen Joints and Muscles; Drives Rheumatic Pains Away.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can easily avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism. It cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter the poison from the blood and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made, curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

Original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or over-come urinary disorders.

PLAN WIRELESS TO SPAN OCEAN

Huge Stations to Transmit the Ether Waves to Foreign Ports.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The announcement was made yesterday on behalf of the Marconi company that contracts have just been let for the construction of eight of the largest wireless stations in the world, four sending and four receiving stations, all to be used in global girdling plans of the company. After the erection of one station but one step will remain, the jump across the Pacific to Japan.

The stations which are to be constructed are in pairs, each pair 20 miles apart, will be erected near Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, Tamales bay and Boninas, Cal.; Belmar, N. J., and along the Eastern Massachusetts coast. Following the erection of the Hawaiian plant, Japan will locate a wireless station, and this will enable the company to throw messages entirely across the Pacific, a distance of 3304 miles to the nearest land in Japan.

The stations, according to the announcement, will have the highest power and longest range in the world. The engines of the stations will develop a 1000 horse power. The stations must all be attuned to different keys to keep them from interfering with each other. They will all be duplicated so they may send out different messages almost simultaneously. Four will go in such rapid succession that they will seem simultaneous.

The engineering work on the new stations already has been begun. Each station will call for a force of 30 men, who will be divided into three shifts covering the 24 hours.

TRAIN BLOCKS STREET; AMBULANCE TOO LATE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Blocked at a street crossing for nine minutes by a railroad train, a police ambulance which started on a "hurry" call with John Winkler, a teamster injured in a runaway accident, reached the city receiving hospital with a dead man instead of one whose life might have been saved.

Winkler's horse was suddenly frightened and he was thrown from the driver's seat to the ground. The wagon passed over his body. An ambulance was called and it was hurrying to the hospital with him when the train blocked the street. Winkler died before the ambulance in charge of the ambulance could force the trainmen to cut the train.

WOLF IS NAMED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Announcement was made yesterday by the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company of the appointment of Dr. Frank A. Wolf of Washington, D. C., as chief of the department of social economy. Dr. Wolf is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, receiving his degree of doctor of philosophy in 1903.

BRAIN OF DOG PUT INTO SICK MAN'S SKULL

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 6.—The brain of a dog was transferred to a man's skull in University hospital here yesterday. W. A. Smith of Kalamazoo had been suffering from abscess on the brain, and in a last effort to save his life, this remarkable operation was performed.

Opening his skull, the surgeons removed the diseased portion of his brain, and in its place substituted the brain of a dog.

Smith was resting comfortably last night, and the surgeons say he has a good chance to recover.

EDWARDS NAMED NEW AUDITOR BY RAILROAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—T. O. Edwards, auditor of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, with headquarters at St. Louis, and a former San Francisco railroad man, has been appointed successor to A. D. McDonald as auditor of the Southern Pacific Company. He is expected to arrive in San Francisco, where he will make his headquarters, in a fortnight.

PRIZE COW DEAD AS RESULT OF PNEUMONIA

RENO, Nev., Feb. 6.—Stafford Mercedes Aoglie Tueble, a $3000 Holstein cow, 12 years old, belonging to the University of Nevada, is dead. She succumbed yesterday after a protracted illness. Dr. Winfred B. Mack of the veterinary department conducted an autopsy, which showed that Aoglie came to her death from a complication of pneumonia and acute liver trouble.

Aoglie was purchased in San Francisco eight years ago by Professor Gordon H. True from I. N. Hotelling for $100. She had been shipped from Wisconsin. She has since proved her worth by being declared the grand champion of the California state fair in 1910 and by taking second place twice. The only cow ever defeating her was Riverdale Sadie de Kor.

In addition, she is the grandmother of the grand champion bull of 1910, and has two other sons living in Nevada. She is the mother and grandmother of the university's prize herd. Besides begetting illustrious progeny she has done the work of two or three average cows in giving 600 pounds of butter annually.

Relieved Severe Pain in Shoulder

Mr. J. UNDERWOOD, of 2000 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I am a piano polisher by occupation, and since last Sept. have suffered with severe pain in both shoulders. I could not rest night or day. One of my friends told me about your liniment. Three applications completely cured me, and I will never be without it."

Cured Sciatic Rheumatism

Mr. A. J. NANCE, of Oak Hill, O., writes: "I have used your liniment for sciatic rheumatism. I was so I could not walk for a long time. I even ate my meals on the floor, but your liniment cured me. I kept it in the house all the time and have let others use it and it cured them."

Hot Water

The economy of heating water with gas is apparent when it is considered that you consume fuel only when you need hot water. It is not necessary to keep a fire going all day to get hot water now and then.

Both health and cleanliness demand hot water.

And the easiest, most economical and most satisfying way to get it is to use gas.

This is another instance of the value and convenience of "Pacific Service."

BEACH AND WIFE TELL STORY OF ATTACK

Sticks to Original Testimony,
Laying Crime on Negro.

Relates Tale of Finding Wife
on Lawn With Her Throat Cut.

OAKLAND, Feb. 6. — Frederick J. Beach related to a jury today his story of the assault upon his wife, with which he is charged. Then Mrs. Beach took the witness stand and corroborated his story. Beach did not depart materially from the tale he has told since the attack—that his wife was struck by a negro when she went outside her cottage with her dogs. He maintained his accustomed calm throughout the hearing examination to which he was subjected by Prosecutor Gunter. He contradicted himself once or twice but speedily corrected his statements when reminded and apologized for his faulty memory.

Only once during the entire examination did he show any signs of disturbance. That was when the prosecutor asked him if he had not asked his wife to "lay the crime on Pearl Hampton's brother, once when he thought they were alone in the mayor's office."

"That is absolutely false," exclaimed Beach, rising in his seat.

Mrs. Beach followed her husband on the stand to tell her story. She wore a brown skirt and a low-necked white shirtwaist. Her plain black hat contrasted strangely with her face, flushed with excitement.

Mrs. Beach corroborated the narrative her husband related. She said the negro had attacked her from behind by laying his hands on her shoulders and forcing her to her knees.

She said she was too terrified to scream after the negro had struck her on the side of the head with a heavy stick. After she screamed she heard the door slam and saw the negro run as her husband came to help her.

Both the accused and his wife have steadily maintained since Mrs. Beach was attacked on the lawn of the family's winter residence here last February that the guilty person was a negro who seized Mrs. Beach as she left the house to give her dogs an airing.

Recounting his experience on the night of February 5, 1912, Beach said that he was sitting in the sitting room of the house shortly after 9 o'clock. Miss Hollins, who was a guest at the Beach cottage, had retired.

"SCREAM IS HEARD," said Beach. "Then we heard another in the next room. I got up and I told my wife I thought it was some negroes quarrelling. Later my wife said she would go to bed but would put the dogs out first. She went out with the dogs, closing the door behind her."

A minute later I heard her scream. I ran out the front door and saw my wife leaning against the post at the corner of the porch. A negro dashed by me across the bushes and I knocked vigorously and Miss Hollins came to the door."

"When I reached my wife she exclaimed: 'He has done something dreadful to me.' I carried her onto the porch. Then I saw the cut in her throat and rushed upstairs, obtained my gun and went out into Hood's Lane in search for the assailant. I returned in a short time and found the door had slammed to. I knocked vigorously and Miss Hollins came to the door."

"I asked who was there before opening the door. I replied, 'It's I, Beach; let me in.' Beach said he left the house soon after that time and I did not see him again. He met the two Wymans, doctors who lived across the street, coming in. When Dr. Hall arrived and began sewing up the wound in his wife's throat, he told her he had been attacked by a negro who was very painful and she held onto me."

The witness then began a long narrative bearing on his efforts to bring his wife's assailant to justice.

HANAFORD NAMED TO SUCCEED YORK

Former President of the Board of Education to Be Secretary.

As predicted in last night's TRIBUNE, A. L. Hanford, former president of the board of education, was last night unanimously elected to the secretaryship of the board, to assume the place vacated by the late B. S. York, who died last Sunday. The appointment was decided upon before the meeting of the board, when the members met in executive session to recommend a successor. Director Harry Boyle at first held out for the appointment of J. R. Turner, who has acted as secretary during York's illness. Mrs. York voted down changed his vote, in order to make Hanford's election unanimous.

"I was not consulted at the committee meeting," said Boyle, "and I believe Turner is entitled to the position. However, I will be magnanimous, and will vote to make a solid election of the candidate desired by the majority of the board."

Hanford was a school director for many years, and served as president. He has made a close study of the recent educational innovations, according to members of the board, and will prove a valuable addition to the department.

TELEGRAMS CLAIM RIGHTS OF WOMEN

Dinner of Realty Men to Include
Feminine Workers
Hereafter.

The semi-annual banquet of the salesmen and other men employees of Wickham Havens Incorporated was held last night on the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Oakland.

The occasion of the banquet was the presentation of the money prizes won by the ten foremost salesmen of the firm in the six months' contest, which ended February 1. The first prize of $125 was won by Edward L. Conkling. The first prize for "points," also $125, was won by Harry P. Fisher, the youngest salesman employed by Wickham Havens Incorporated.

The remaining cash prizes were won as follows: Second prize, $75, won by Felix M. E. Locher; third prize, $50, won by W. Eng; fourth prize, $25, won by H. L. Davis.

Points—Second prize, $25, won by J. Wetzell; third prize, $15, won by Richard Oates; fourth prize, $10, won by K. C. Hansen; fifth prize, $5, won by H. Hood.

In addition to the money prizes a special trophy of a gold knife, appropriately inscribed, was awarded to Conkling, and a sterling silver cup, also appropriately inscribed, was awarded to H. P. Fisher, the first prize winner.

The presentation was made in felicitous speeches by E. A. Jones, the sales manager.

Speeches were also made by Park Commissioner W. S. Gould and by Walter Leimert, vice-president and manager of Wickham Havens Incorporated.

During and after the banquet musical numbers were rendered by Felix M. E. Locher and by Frank H. Ayers, accompanied by George U. Hatch.

A diversion was created while the banquet was in progress by the receipt of a package of "telegrams" addressed to a dozen or more of the men present, purporting to have been sent by Christobel Pankhurst, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Eleanor Sears and others. Some of the telegrams stated that the plain intimation that at the next banquet the feminine employees of Wickham Havens Incorporated should be invited.

"We want our rights," said one of the telegrams.

A toast was drunk to "the girls of the office" and it was strongly intimated that the next semi-annual banquet will include all employees.

O. & A. RAILWAY SUED FOR $2500

Plaintiff Declares That Shafter
Avenue Has Been Injured
as Residence Street.

Anticipating that the Oakland and Bay Shore Railway Company, known as the Oakland and Antioch Railway, will soon become the western terminus of a transcontinental railroad, E. S. Ragoss, a property owner in Shafter avenue, along which the railway line runs, has filed suit for $2500 damages, alleging that his property has been injured by the construction of the line.

Plaintiff states that prior to the building of the railway, Shafter avenue was a quiet and peaceful residence street, but that since his property has been situated near the line, the street has been running to the number of six per day there will soon be a 20-minute schedule and that the noise of the traffic seriously affects the street as a residence section. Of the amount demanded, $1500 is for present damage and $1000 is for anticipated deterioration to his holdings.

Two other suits were recently filed in the Superior Court against the company on similar grounds.

EX-CONVICT WAITS IN VAIN FOR GIRL

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 6.—An unused ticket in the hands of Joseph Hardy, passenger agent at the Union Station for the Webber, is the mute evidence of a pathetic love story in which a young man's sweetheart refused to marry him after he told her he had just been released from the Federal Prison at Leavenworth. The girl had come from St. Louis to meet him. His name is James Winton.

A clean-cut, good looking young man with a flannel shirt and prison made suit and overcoat, went to Hardy and said: "Did the conductor on the Leavenworth train leave my ticket with you? Winton's the name. I am a released convict."

Hardy answered in the affirmative. "I want to ask you to let me wait for the next train," said Winton. "You see, well, I may get married. But I've got to tell Stella I've been in prison and see if she'll still have me. She doesn't know I've been in the penitentiary."

In the afternoon Hardy saw the girl board a train for St. Louis. She was alone. "It's too bad," said Hardy. "He looked like a good chap."

AMENDMENT TO SOLVE PROBLEM OF CHARTER

Right to Combine Offices to Be Provided
For by Law

Chairman Mark Requa of the citizens' committee which is considering the matter of an improved county charter, announced at a meeting of the committee in the chamber of commerce last night that an amendment to section 74, article II of the Political Code, had been introduced at Sacramento in behalf of this county.

The amendment was drawn up by City Attorney Beardsley, and is entirely harmless, being intended merely to allow the committee to change it at the March session in any way they want, just as soon as the legislative sub-committee has agreed as to the form of the desired amendment. No new bills may be introduced in March, but bills already introduced may be amended. Thus, the Beardsley amendment came within the time limit, and can be altered entirely in March.

Professor William Carey Jones, dean of jurisprudence at the University of California, said that he, R. M. Fitzgerald and Harrison S. Robinson had carefully examined the provisions of the State constitution and had found none of them adequate to cover the procedure contemplated under a new county charter, such as an official who would hold the dual office of city and county auditor.

The legislative committee approved of the Beardsley amendment and accepted a suggestion from C. E. Snook that it might be possible to save time under a general law by amending the municipal Musicians will be held in connection with the exhibition, and it is expected that society on both sides of the bay, with whom the painter is a favorite, will grace the occasion.

WORLD tours are a popular amusement with society folk now, who used to visit the Old World in search of amusement and culture, but now they are graded the globe without long and serious preparation. It was an event infrequent enough to call for extended notice a few years ago, but now a jaunt around the world is undertaken almost as easily as a trip to New York.

Oakland had a large representation among the passengers on the stamer Cleveland when she sailed from her Union Street dock this morning at 9 o'clock. Most of the passengers went aboard yesterday and the afternoon hours were filled with a delightful reception to the many friends who came to bid them bon voyage.

Among those from this city who made reservations for the world tour are H. C. Capwell and Harris Robert Capwell Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gove, Mrs. Edw. Henshaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Walker, Mrs. George W. Cope, Miss E. C. Niehaus, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow P. Bancroft and Miss Evelyn Bancroft. The first stop of the cruise will be made at Honolulu, where the passengers will be royally welcomed and entertained. After a short stay there, the steamer will continue to the Orient, from whence she will sail through the Suez canal and the Mediterranean sea, with numerous stops for sight seeing. After passing Gibraltar, she will cross the Atlantic to her home port, New York, where the passengers will disembark and return to their homes.

Travelers from Oakland will be about four months making the trip around the world.

DATES FOR NEXT SEASON.

For the dances to be given by the Delmar Assembly next year will be October 14, November 11, December 9, January 6 and February 10. They will be held in the beautiful ivory ballroom of the Hotel Oakland, where the last two assemblies of the season have taken place. The patronesses for the year will be the same as those who arranged such a successful season for the first year of the assembly. They are Mrs. Frederick W. Leuter, Mrs. George W. Cope and Mrs. William Westlund. The dances this season have been very popular with the younger set, who are already looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to a number of brilliant parties next season.

WORLD TRAVELERS TO SAIL.

Among the Oakland folk who were passengers on the steamer Cleveland this morning when she departed on the first stages of her journey around the world were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gove, Mrs. Edw. Henshaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Walker, Mrs. George W. Cope, Miss E. C. Niehaus, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow P. Bancroft and Miss Evelyn Bancroft. They will be gone nearly four months, visiting the Orient and the Old World. Miss Mildred Manuel will be at Mills College during her parents' absence on the Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Edgar Randall are now comfortably settled in their bungalow at San Diego. Mrs. Randall, whose wedding was a society event of the new year, was Miss Leslie Constance Manuel.

MARY GARDEN SCORES

CRITIC OF LOVE AS INSINCERE

Prima Donna Declares That It Is "Creative Force of the World."

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—"Love is the creative force of the world. It is the one spark between animalism and divinity."

Mary Garden, in one of her most serious moods, full of the joy of "simply being," as she expressed it—thus began yesterday to make a critical analysis of Mrs. Blanche Waga's article in a current monthly on "Is Love a Symptom of Degeneracy?"

"All great deeds in the world," said Miss Garden, "have been inspired through love, from the beginning of things until now."

The "cherchez la femme" of the French is their way of saying that love is at the bottom of all endeavor.

"What Mrs. Waga says is not convincing of her sincerity, even in her argument that 'Love is the trade of the unhealthy minded, the illogical dreamer, the nomad.' Regardless of the fact that Sophocles, Homer, Plato and Aeschylus, to quote Mrs. Waga, 'completely ignored woman's aesthetic place in the universe,' it is very safe to surmise that women—some individual women, or women in general—have a very aesthetic place in the personal universality of each of these ancient."

Miss Garden, who was seen in her apartment at the Ritz, expressed great satisfaction in having been able to reduce her weight by dieting. She has lost twenty-two pounds, which makes her noticeably slender.

When it was remarked that a noted singer was deploring his attention to her, Miss Garden declared that she would never wed an opera singer, even if it was to be the last "act of retribution" of her life. She said she detested the personal mentality of the profession male singer.

To Raise Fund

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Hundreds of Smith College graduates canvassed New York yesterday for the first nickel to ward a fund of $1,000,000 which the alumnae of Smith have undertaken to raise for the enlargement of the college facilities and to provide increased salaries for the professors. The campaign will be national.

Women Outdrink Men

DENVER, Feb. 6.—"Twenty women to one man in Denver drink intoxicating liquor and they drink more than men," this was the statement made on the floor of the Colorado Senate yesterday by Senator John Hecker of Denver.

Woman Wears Mask

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—As nameless as the famous prisoner whose identity was concealed by an iron covering, a woman, voluntarily concealing her features beneath a mask of black velvet, caused a sensation of no mean dimensions by gayly cantering through Golden Gate Park on a buckskin horse yesterday afternoon.

The first thought of spectators was that she was a vagrant relic of the Mardi Gras ball, but daylight had too long ended the revels, so the next thought of explanation was that she was advertising some specialty of merchandise.

Advertising is strictly prohibited in the park and so Policemen Harvey and Lounghard, patrolling the park in plain clothes, acting on this supposition, arrested her and took her to the park station.

Here the woman absolutely refused to give her name or to remove her mask. She said she was not advertising and that she had a constitutional right to wear a mask if she chose to do so.

She further said that she arrived in San Francisco only a few days ago and had visited many cities in the states, where it has been her habit to wear the mask for protection. Whether it be for the protection of her face or for that of innocent spectators, she said not.

So the deek sergeant reluctantly allowed her to leave without unmasking and she remounted and cantered away to spread a perfect conflagration of curiosity in the park.

Dinner followed by bridge Saturday with Miss Smith as the complimented guest. Miss Smith was a member of several bridge clubs and a sewing club, and most of the members of the clubs went across the bay to wish her "bon voyage" at her departure.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Miss Edith McCornack gave a delightful surprise to the friends who were her guests at luncheon last Saturday afternoon when she announced her engagement to Gerret A. Bigelow. The announcement was a complete surprise, as the secret of the betrothal had been well kept. Covers were laid for fourteen at the rose-decked table, and the place cards told the news of the hostess' engagement by means of a tiny envelope enclosing the names of the young couple, borne by Cupid. Miss McCornack is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. McCornack and is popular with the younger set. Bigelow is an expert mining engineer and a graduate of the University of California.

ARE YOU A JOB'S COMFORTER?

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

Copyright, 1912, by Lillian Russell.

AVOID mentioning a little pain or ache you may have when you arise in the morning. Instead of telling the family how you feel, tell someone how well he looks. "You look so rested and fresh this morning" is a much pleasanter salutation than "How are you this morning?" Persist in feeling well yourself, and it will surprise you how soon you will get into touch with more beautiful persons and things.

If women only understood how much their beauty depends upon repose and tranquility of thought, if they only realized how much nervous energy they waste and havoc they play with their beauty when they neglect to make the daily duties habits, I am sure they would cultivate with the greatest persistency the regular and systematic performance of the various trifles that so often bring the frown and scowl to the face and use up the vital beauty forces.

I know what I am talking about, because I receive many letters from men asking me to send suggestions secretly to their wives for cleanliness and tidiness.

Make necessity your choice. By regular, systematic repetition of your duties beautify mind, body, and spirit. You know, dear friends, the immense relief accruing from the knowledge that the letter of invitation is answered, the small bills are paid, and the trifling request immediately granted. A few minutes each day devoted to these duties accomplish wonders without the loss of vitality through strain on the nerves.

Combining daily duties is another method by which strain or overtaxing the nerves may be avoided; for example, the use of the boracic acid wash for the eyes and the blowing exercises for the rounding of the throat may be done while the head is lifted once.

Regularity in the time and manner of brushing the hair will eliminate conscious effort of mind and create a desire to do even the irksome task, and I do wish to impress upon you the fact that as nervous strain is beauty's enemy, so habit is beauty's greatest friend.

I have heard so many women say, "O, how I would love to be beautiful." Yet these same women will frown and complain of the terrible amount of trouble it is to take the rolling exercises to reduce the hips they sigh about, or the daily breathing exercises to fill out the chest and round the flabby neck they so bitterly lament.

Make a habit of smiling and laughing every morning upon arising. Look in your mirror and smile at yourself.

I am sure that half the women I see do not look into their mirrors before leaving their rooms, or they certainly would take time to rearrange their hair. In the first place, remember your indispensable mirror; you must see the profile and back of your head before you can be sure that your coiffure is properly arranged. If you have a large head wear your hair plain. Be sure it is clean and soft, and you can dress it as you wish.

Answers to Queries

DISCOURAGED—If the growth of hair is heavy I would have it removed by the electric needle, by all means, before it gets any heavier, as superfluous hair is a blemish to beauty. If the hair is removed by an expert electrologist it will not leave a scar.

EDWARD C.—In my opinion, there is always some internal cause for dark circles under the eyes. Sometimes they are caused by a lack of sleep, eye strain, anemia, and sometimes they are hereditary. The external treatment is sometimes effective, but cannot be permanent while the cause exists. Bathe frequently with cold water and use friction. Massage under the eyes with a good skin food is good, but when doing this be sure that you do not press the eyeball.

MISS H. J.—There is not enough lanolin in the cream to amount to anything, and if you use an astringent lotion after using the skin food you will find that the cream will not produce a growth of hair. Too much fat meat is not good for the complexion, but there is no need of going without it altogether. One should drink plenty of water during the day. Do you think of the disagreeable things of the day after you have retired? When going to bed let your mind rest—don't think of a single worrying matter. You will find that you will drop off to sleep. Practice deep breathing the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night. This will help a great deal.

SYCAMORE—The habit of holding the head down when working will cause one to have a double chin. However, this can be prevented. Hold the head erect, and each day practice the following exercise: Throw the head back with force, putting all the muscles on the stretch; then throw the head to one side, and then to the other, still keeping the muscles on the stretch. Do this about ten times. This will remedy a double chin and otherwise improve the contour.

MISERABLE—The knuckles cannot be decreased in size, but by making the hands plumper their appearance will be greatly improved. Rub at night with a good skin food and wear sleeping gloves.

SCHOOL AND PLAYGROUND

LIVES OF AMERICAN HEROES TO BE HONORED

Pupils of the public schools of this city are preparing to celebrate the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington, which will occur this month. On Wednesday, February 12, the birthday of Lincoln will be observed while on Friday, February 21, Washington's birth will be remembered. Owing to the fact that Washington's birthday occurs on Saturday, February 22, the children will give their programs on the previous Friday.

Following the custom of years, the youngsters will relate the life and works of the heroes. In song and story the boys and girls will relate interesting incidents in the lives of these great Americans. Patriotic hymns will be sung by augmented choruses, which are now being drilled for the respective occasions.

Attempt Made to Cover Blanchard Crime With Theory of Accident

Victim Had Often Received Threats; Laplace Tells Story of Discovery

RICHMOND, Feb. 6.—Initial headway in investigation of the murder of Bert Blanchard, deputy fish and game commissioner, in the Sycamore hills, was made today when Sheriff Veale and other officers began a hunt for two aliens living at Smithville, near Stege, who are known to have made threats against the dead man some time ago.

The suspects were prosecuted, with Blanchard's assistance, on two occasions and paid fines for illegal hunting. Sheriff Veale, Under Sheriff William Veale, Coroner Abbott, Deputy Fish Commissioner Jones and Fish Commissioner Hunter went to Smithville and to the scene of the murder nearby early this afternoon for a further inquiry into the murder.

Insisting that Bert Blanchard, deputy state game warden, who was found dead near Stege yesterday, was murdered, Chief of Police J. P. Arnold of Richmond and Sheriff R. A. Veale of Contra Costa county today continued their investigation. Veale declares the theory that death was due to an accidental discharge of the victim's own gun is erroneous.

Arnold and Veale, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Jones of Alameda county and a number of officials of the state game commission, again today visited the spot where the body was found. For a distance of 10 feet to the rear of the spot where the body was found, proving that the official had been killed by a weapon discharged from in back of him.

In making an arrest it is customary for a game commissioner to compel a prisoner to pack his gun. In the case to be observed, Blanchard was caught off guard while his prisoner or prisoners were doing this; that they closed in on him and deliberately shot him to death.

SHOTGUN FOUND ON BODY. The charge of shot entered the neck on the left side just below the ear and tore away the right side of his face. The police believe that the murderer, seeking to cover their crime, took Blanchard's shotgun and placed it under his right arm, where they left it with the barrel pointing toward his head. It was evidently an effort on the part of the slayers to hide the crime under supposed accidental death.

The murder theory is believed to be strengthened by the fact that while a revolver holster was found on the body the weapon was missing. All papers had been removed with the exception of a slip bearing the inscription "Frank Portno, 1107 Kearny street." The police are endeavoring to trace Portno to discover what connection, if any, he may have with the case.

HAD RECEIVED THREATS. Friends of Blanchard in Oakland today recounted numerous occasions when the deputy game warden had received threats that enemies among alien hunters would "get" him. It is known that Blanchard had been particularly active in trailing aliens who hunt without a license, the fee in their case being large.

That Blanchard may have met a friend shortly before he was killed is indicated by the fact that a film taken from his kodak had been exposed several times. One of the pictures taken being of Blanchard himself, the game warden evidently having posed while someone took a snapshot.

In an interview this morning, Alexander Laplace, of 615 Thirtieth street, and secretary of the Vauban bakery and restaurant on Washington street, who, with his nephew, Maurice Laplace, found the body of Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner Bert Blanchard yesterday morning, said today:

"I have been on a short vacation for the past few days and yesterday morning thought I would take advantage of the fine weather for a stroll. My nephew, Laplace, agreed to take a walk with me and suggested that we go to Stege and gather mushrooms."

"It was while thus engaged that we came upon the body of the fish and game commissioner. We had just left the road and were going across a section of the old Bandy ranch in Wild Cat canyon. My nephew suggested that we take different paths in order to get as many mushrooms as possible. We had hardly parted when he shouted to me: 'Uncle! Uncle! There's a man sleeping with a gun by his side. He looks as if he were dead."

"I ran over to the spot and found Blanchard lying on his back. We immediately notified the authorities. "From the manner in which the body was lying and the position of the bullet hole I believe that Blanchard was shot from behind. There was a pencil within several feet of the body, and I suppose that Blanchard had come upon several hunters who were shooting out of season and was taking down their names when they shot him."

"A shotgun from which the right shell had been exploded was held in his left hand. The gun was slightly rusted and was probably put into the dead man's hands by the murderers. There was no sign of a struggle about the place and there were a number of cows pastured within several yards of the body."

"When we found Blanchard he was lying with his feet toward the top of the hill and his head down. Following the fatal shooting he had fallen and then rolled about six feet, the earth for about this distance having that appearance."

REWARD IS SOUGHT. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—A law to prevent aliens from carrying firearms will be urged by the fish and game commission of California as the result of the discovery yesterday of Game Warden Blanchard's murder in the Berkeley foothills, and Commissioner Westerfield will ask Governor Johnson to offer a reward for the capture of the murderer.

"Blanchard made a specialty of running down aliens who were shooting without a license, or who killed song birds," said the commissioner today. "and his life was repeatedly threatened. He probably made more arrests of this kind than any other deputy. "After six deputies had been killed and eight wounded in Pennsylvania, such a law was passed there, and its enactment and strict enforcement resulted in an immediate check to poaching and violence."

CITY GARDENER'S WIFE DIES FROM OPERATION. Fallbrook rally after an operation, Mrs. Elizabeth Kelton, wife of Charles L. Kelton, city gardener, died yesterday at the Merritt Hospital, where she had been treated for the past ten days. For several years she had been ailing and was for the greater part of the time under the care of physicians.

The deceased was a native of San Leandro, having been born there, 44 years ago. She was the only daughter, and was very much interested in the development of the bay city region. Mrs. Kelton was the mother of Gene and Frank C. Kelton, both of this city. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from St. Andrew's Catholic church, Thirty-sixth and Adeline streets.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Alaska's vast resources can best be brought within reach of the world, in the opinion of President Taft, by the construction, with government assistance, of two railroad lines from the Alaskan coast to the interior, ownership of which shall be vested in the government, but which shall be operated by private parties under lease. In a special message transmitting to Congress the report of the Alaskan railroad commission, the President strongly urged today legislation along these lines, asking that the government either guarantee the principal and interest of bonds necessary to build the roads or to construct them. "I am very much opposed to government operation, but I believe that government ownership with private operation under lease is the proper solution," wrote the President.

One road recommended by the commission would connect Cordova with Fairbanks by way of Chitina, the other would link Seward with Iditarod. The first would open up the Bering river coal field; the other the Matanuska field. The two roads would have a total mileage, with branches, of 733 miles and would cost about $35,000,000.

Others as Grafters.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Dennis Sweeney, inspector of police, was suspended by Commissioner Waldo this afternoon. His name has been mentioned in the graft confession made last night by Police Captain Thomas Walsh.

Waldo suspended from duty today Thomas Walsh, police captain, who confessed on his sick bed last night that he was a grafter and had shared with an inspector of police and another man higher up. The commissioner took action as soon as he had confirmed from the district attorney's office the authenticity of Walsh's confession.

On Monday, it will be enough, Walsh will tell his story to the grand jury. Commissioner Waldo conferred with Mayor Gaynor today concerning Walsh's revelations in his much-investigated department, steadily under fire since the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, last July.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The trail of police graft upon which District Attorney Charles S. Whitman set out last summer is declared by him today to have emerged from the thicket of minor exposures to an open road leading to a much higher up.

Through the remarkable confession which Police Captain Thomas Walsh made to the district attorney last night, which will be repeated to the grand jury, indictments will be sought against a police inspector and others as alleged graft takers on a large scale. If obtained these indictments will be the most important developments in the exposure of the "system" which the city was accused to the alliance of its police with gambling and vice by the murder of a "squealing" gambler at the instigation of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker last July.

Walsh's confession was made on his sick bed. It was forced in part by charges made by Policeman Eugene Fox, who pleaded guilty to graft collection last Monday and turned upon Walsh as the man next above him. Fearing that a heart weakness with which he has long been troubled might forewarn his death and wishing to purge his conscience Captain Walsh admitted taking vice graft to the amount of perhaps $100,000 in a single police precinct. Half this amount he turned over to those higher up.

Police Commissioner Waldo said today that he had taken no action against Walsh and the inspector named in his confession until he had officially confirmed Walsh's charges and admissions. To this end he sent a representative to confer with the representative of the district attorney. If this representative is convinced that Walsh spoke the truth the police commissioner said he would suspend him and the inspector forthwith.

To a representative of the commissioner last night Walsh denied any connection with the graft receiving. A few hours later he made his statement to the district attorney.

On receiving a report from his representative sent to the district attorney's office, Mr. Waldo immediately suspended Walsh.

It was expected that similar action would be taken later in the day with regard to the inspector in question.

BOARD OF EDUCATIONPrincipal Baxley's Transfer, Contractors'
Row and Other Matters Disturb Meeting

Three verbal storms broke last night at the meeting of the Board of Education, and while the smoke of battle was clearing the board averted a fourth by adopting the report of Superintendent McClintock's recommendation that intermediate high schools be installed at the Emerson and Deaver schools, under the very noses of a delegation there to protest the action. The recommendation was hidden among a long list of innocuous items such as photograph records for the public school system, and, after it was passed, even the board did not recognize its purport. Director Harry Boyle, talking with a friend during the reading of the report, looked on it and later, after the meeting was over, declared that he did not know the intermediate school matter was in it. "McClintock put one over on me," he declared, "but I will see that it does not happen again."

Boyle asserted that he with vote no more reports passed until he has investigated.

The matter of transferring Miss Alice Baxley, former principal of Fruitvale school No. 5, to the Beulah school, the matter of allowing political discussions in school buildings and a spirited tiff between E. Zimmer, a vacuum cleaner contractor, and Supervising Architect J. J. Donovan, which for a time threatened to end in blows, were causes of battle. The first two matters were argued at length by large delegations and resulted in Miss Baxley being transferred as scheduled and the motion to allow political discussions being voted down. The third battle resulted in President Orr hastily calling the meeting adjourned and leaving the room while Director Harry Boyle and the lobby clamored loudly for a further hearing. The meeting consumed four hours' time.

DEFENDS HERSELF.

Miss Baxley appeared in her own defense and presented the unique spectacle of a lone woman fighting against the board and superintendent and defying her accusers. One by one she broke down charges against her until all that remained was that there was no harmony in the school. Rumors of immoral conditions in the school, repeated on many sides, a statement made to the superintendent, that Miss Baxley had been charged with immoral relations with a janitor, who was dismissed some time ago, which created considerable gossip at the time, was mentioned by the school superintendent, who, however, stated that Miss Baxley was not cognizant of this state of affairs. "We cannot attach any blame to Miss Baxley for this," she declared. "I have been told that she was not always truthful, however."

COULD NOT PROVE.

"Who told you that?" asked Miss Baxley. "and was it proved?" "I cannot say," declared McClintock.

"This is a disgrace," shouted George Ingraham, an improvement club member appearing in the case. "Here a defenseless woman is before this board, accused of immoral relations, and she has never seen, bailed with accusations, the origin of which none of you seem to know, and to which no proof is adduced. She does not understand how to defend herself. It is a question of evidence, whether she be transferred or the teachers. They seem not to be in harmony with her. Is the board going to insist on listening to all these rumors why not have a fair and honest trial and let Miss Baxley face and question the people who accuse her. We have vague rumors here and nothing to act upon. It is not a square deal."

I am only repeating what was told me," declared McClintock. "My only reason for transferring Miss Baxley is that a school divided against its principal cannot exist. I believe Miss Baxley faithful, a good teacher and honest. My only objection is that she is not in harmony with the remainder of the faculty."

PRESENTS PETITIONS. "There have been accusations made," said Ingraham. "That is why I have brought petitions from practically all the residents in the district asking that she be retained. The students also want her retained. I represent the mothers' club, which has implicit faith in her."

"I have been unfairly dealt with by the Board of Education," declared Miss Baxley, speaking in her own defense. "There have been charges made, unknown to me, and I have had no chance to defend myself. It was said that I did not give examinations often. Here are papers proving that I have. It is said that never visited classrooms. I have witnesses to prove I did. It is said I countenanced immoral conditions in the school. The alleged instance occurred after school hours, when the janitor was in charge and I knew nothing of them until exposed in the charges. Mr. McClintock says it is charged that I am untruthful. He refuses to say who made the charge and will not give me a chance to disprove it. This is unfair. I am helpless, humiliated and disgraced on rumor, with no foundation of proof and without an opportunity to state my side of the case."

POLITICS HINTED.

"This looks like a dirty political deal," declared C. K. Tinsley, another of Miss Baxley's defenders. "There is no reason, proof or basis for this transfer. You can do this if you will, but I know what the people of this district will think and it will not be forgotten soon."

This is not a political deal," retorted McClintock. "It is simply a matter of school efficiency. That is all we care about. You talk about your rights in the school. No one has rights but the children. It is them that we are considering. They must be taught and therefore the school must be efficient."

The motion was put and carried authorizing the transfer.

About fifty friends of the transferred teacher, representatives of the mothers' club of the school and the improvement club of the district, were present. Bussing followed the board's vote. Hot words passed between Miss Anne Florence Brown and Mrs. G. W. Wright, secretary of the mothers' club, over an alleged statement made by Miss Brown in regard to immoral conditions in the school, which the latter denied. Miss Brown finally refused to speak further. "I will not be drawn into an altercation with you," she said. "I will not be called a liar and I will not discuss the matter. I never did." Mrs. Christiansen, president of the club, also spoke.

BOYLE VOTED DOWN.

The matter of political discussions in the schools brought forth several hot arguments and lay before the board as a question of order. The matter, Director Boyle insisted on interrupting in order to state his views in the matter further. Orr then took a vote as to whether Boyle was out of order or not and passed the motion while Boyle continued to protest.

The matter came up for passage in the shape of a resolution introduced by Miss Brown, allowing the use of schools for any purpose, where a meeting was to be held. Director Boyle amended this, asking that the board await action of the state Legislature, now at work on a similar matter.

"I object to waiting," said Boyle as the roll was being called. "I declare 'You are out of order.'"

Orr, "and I call a vote to prove it."

"I protest, anyhow," retorted Boyle, "and insist that we act now."

REFUSE POSTPONEMENT.

The vote to lay the matter over was defeated and several speakers in the lobby were heard. Rev. A. W. Palmer, Assemblyman W. A. Clark, J. P. Montgomery, Mrs. R. C. Young, representing the Civic Center, and several others, stated that they and their organizations favored the passage of the resolution. Mrs. Porter later withdrew her support, declaring that she did not understand the proposition and that she had imagined the plan was to prevent any meeting at all in schools.

While the lobbyists were speaking, Miss Brown and Director Cook left the room, soon followed by Boyle and the debate took place between them in the superintendent's office. Miss Brown induced Cook to vote for her project. Dr. Kelly, it was understood, had agreed to.

The matter came to a vote, however, Kelly declared that, while he favored the project, he would not agree to pass so sweeping a resolution. "Let us do it systematically," he declared. Boyle gave notice for reconsideration of the next meeting. The motion had lost 3 to 1, Cook, Brown and Boyle voting for the plan.

"There is no use reconsidering," declared Miss Brown. "You cannot do anything with the members of the board. They are not open to collection." Boyle insisted, however, on giving notice.

ARCHITECT IN CHARGE.

Just before the adjournment of the meeting E. Zimmer, sub-contractor for Lang & Bergstrom on the Emerson school, appeared before the board and sub-contractor first named and approved by the city architect was J. F. Hurley, and Zimmer had been substituted without that official being consulted.

"I refuse to recognize this sub-contractor," said Donovan.

"You don't know anything about a vacuum cleaner," declared Zimmer, "and you cannot refuse to deal with me, anyhow. I paid for the contract."

"I paid Hurley," said Zimmer.

"Well, I will not recognize you, and you will do no work on a school I am building," shouted Donovan. "I want no dealings with you at all."

"You cannot help yourself," said Zimmer. "I am doing the work, and doing it right. Your plans are a joke, as you know nothing of the work. If I had my way I would do a good job. Using your plans, I cannot. I will accept your specifications, but I will not do it if I have to go to court for it."

"I ignore this man," said Donovan. "This is not up to the board, anyway. The contractor for the building has to settle it. He cannot hire this man unless I say so, and I won't say so."

"I warn you to look out!" shouted Zimmer, shaking his fist at the architect.

"I am not afraid, and I have charge of this," said Donovan. "I won't let you, and that is all there is to it."

ADJOURNS MEETING.

At this moment Orr adjourned the meeting and left the room. "Wait!" Boyle called to the directors, however, fled leaving Boyle, a group of angry lobbyists, who had just discovered that the intermediate schools had been established, and the angry contractor, together. Boyle says he will attempt to have the matter of the intermediate schools reconsidered Monday.

Eva M. McKenzie, a teacher, resigned. The Oakland Esperanto Club applied for use of the High school twice, instead of once, a month. This will be granted. G. W. Wright was elected a principal in the department, the election to take effect next term. The Park and Division streets school, now in course of construction, will be named the Lazarus school, after the famous yellow fever expert. Several minor matters were considered. The Prohibition party applied for the use of the common school assembly hall for meetings. This was denied pending settlement of the question of politics in schools.

in March.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—A lively tilt is promised in the legislature when it reconvenes after the 30-day recess over the question of reimbursing counties for the loss of franchise tax funds to retire bond issues under the new tax system separating State and county taxes.

State Controller Nye is convinced he has discovered a serious muddle as a result of the law of 1911, which appropriates flat sums to those counties believed to have lost in revenue under the revised tax schedule. His figures show that several counties have been overpaid by the State while others have been underpaid during the last two fiscal years.

The State has lost approximately $67,673, the overpayments having amounted to $11,157, and the underpayments to $56,516, according to Nye. He figures the following counties have been overpaid in the amounts named:

Imperial, $42,108; Bladera, $1934; Nevada, $11,722; Placer, $46,987; Shasta, $10,000; Yuba, $2321.

On the same basis the following have been underpaid:

Lassen, $1640; Plumas, $7806; Sutter, $62; San Bernardino, $45,958.

Corbett Writes for Tribune, Defending Sport of Pugilism

'BOXER'S SPIRIT SAVED MY LIFE,' SAYS NOTED CHAMP

Europe Is Seeking to Develop Now the Sport in Which We Excel

By JAMES J. CORBETT.

I have been asked to write for the readers of THE TRIBUNE'S sporting page a defense of the sport of boxing from the standpoint of one who has achieved all the success the game has to offer, and who has been through the mill from entrance to exit.

I am glad of the opportunity of doing so, for it is this sport that has made it possible for me to make so many friends, and more than that, I can in all sincerity, say that I believe I owe my life to the profession which I followed for so many years.

Had it not been for the physical stamina which I acquired as a boxer the physical qualities built up by careful attention to the rules of health and the fortitude and courage which the boxer gains in the face of pain and distress, I am sure that I would never have been able to rise last year from what everyone thought was my deathbed and regain my health so quickly.

BOXER'S SPIRIT STAVED OFF DEATH.

The doctors had counted nine seconds on me, and it was the boxer's spirit that bade me beat the count of ten and "come back strong."

The manly art of self-defense is a primal instinct which has been with us since the beginning of history and will remain with us in some form or other until the end of the world. As long as they do not call war a crime, and they continue to glorify the soldier who is taught to kill, I can not very well see why they should call the boxer brutal and legislate the sport out of our lists of manly recreations.

The modern successful boxer, to begin with, must be clean and without vices. He is taught that he can not drink or smoke to excess, he must control his temper, quicken his eye and his muscles, cultivate mental alertness, steel himself to accept punishment without whimpering and learn to rely upon the manhood within him. He must be clean and game. Surely, those are qualifications worth possessing in these days of overworked business men and cigarette-smoking, effeminate youths.

NOT POSSIBLE TO PROHIBIT ENTIRELY.

I do not believe that it is possible to prohibit pugilism entirely any more than it is practical to prohibit anything else for which the public, or a large portion of it, shows a decided preference. I can distinctly recall, for instance, that before the prize ring was allowed to become a recognized institution, gang fights were of common occurrence, and there was a great deal of "barn-loft" boxing. I met Joe Choynski in a barn in Sausalito in the early days, and later we met again on a barge near Benicia, two events that possibly the older amongst you will remember. In those days the prize for which the boxers met was not sufficient to make the profession very lucrative, and in consequence the modern boxer with his long and careful attention to training did not develop until the sport itself was given recognition and permitted to develop.

They speak of the commercialism that attaches itself to the prize ring today, but the reward to the successful boxer is no more than to the successful baseball player, as witness Mr. Frank Chance's annual salary of $40,000, with the possible bonus if his team gets in the world's series.

While the managers and promoters may be looking out for the box-office receipts, the average fighter is just as much anxious to win the glory that comes to a popular idol. The minute that public interest wanes and attendance dwindles the higher type of boxer seeks other fields. The abolition of professional boxing in favor of only amateurs means, of course, that no man can make a livelihood from the sport, and at once you shut the gate in the face of the man who is trained for the sport and open it to the one who is not giving his time and attention to it.

BORN RACE OF FIGHTERS.

Americans constitute a born race of fighters. What red-blooded man can look back upon the accomplishments of the long list of Yankee boxers who have worn the national colors at their belt in many a victory over men from the across the water and not feel a certain sense of pride and satisfaction? With England and France undergoing a revival of interest in pugilism and concentrating their efforts to develop a new champion of the world, I do not see why America should endeavor to stamp out the sport.

Under the state commission New York seems to have arrived at a satisfactory method of regulating the sport, though I do not believe that there is any sense in prohibiting decisions. If they permit the bout, what is the idea of prohibiting a decision? The newspapers very frequently differ in close contests and in consequence a fighter sometimes does not know whether he won or not. I presume that you will want to know what I think of the modern boxer, and whom I regard as the best man in the heavyweight ranks today. Everybody asks me that question.

PALZER IF PROPERLY TRAINED.

Inasmuch as I am one of the old guard my sympathies naturally lean in that direction, but it would be easier for some of the deans amongst the sporting critics who have seen all the ring battles for the past year to say whether the modern boxer is superior to the old. I fought the old-timers and have only looked on at the new ones. It is a standing joke with my friends that I never could pick a winner, so I am afraid my opinion of the best heavyweight here would not be of great importance. I have seen Bombardier Wells, Carl Morris, Jess Willard, Al Palzer, Luther McCarty and Jack Johnson. Of these I think McCarty is right now the best, but I firmly believe that if Palzer was taken in hand and given the proper tuition in the science of defense he is the one to beat. The next good man who meets Jack Johnson will whip him if he keeps on top of him and secures articles that call for a clean break from the clinches.

*Yours truly,
James J. Corbett*

WHITE SOX WILL STOP AT HOTEL OAKLAND WHILE HERE

O'Neill Completes Arrangements With Management; Leaves for East.

Before leaving for the East this morning Tip O'Neill completed his arrangements with the management of the White Sox for the first and second squads of the White Sox to be domiciled there during their stay in this section of California. O'Neill was very much pleased with the terms quoted by the management of the hotel and the accommodations offered.

Conley and Callahan, with members of their families, and many famous sportswriters will also make their headquarters at the hotel and all train-camp stories and accounts of games in Oakland and San Francisco will be filed from the hotel.

O'Neill intimated that because of the condition of the diamond at Pasadena, the second squad would probably be quarantined in some Los Angeles hotel after breaking from training camp, where the players can use Washington park, a grass field.

The Grove street park probably will be used for the exhibition games between the White Sox and the Oakland Athletics. Secretary A. A. Donahoe of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce will take up with the traction company the question of transportation for the players to the grounds each day and other details.

Escaped after fifteen years, W. P. Burrows made a successful escape after 15 years of suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kidney Pills released him and will do just the same for others. He says: "They cured my most severe backache with painful bladder irregularities and they do all you claim for them." Refuse substitutes. Wishart's Drug Store.

LIVE COMMENT AND GOSSIP
BY BILLY FITZ

Friends of "Bill" Fertine, the umpire are sorry to hear that he is seriously ill with an attack of locomotor ataxia at his home in Berkeley and that his days as an umpire are probably over. "Bill" was compelled to quit the American league by poor health last year. He is at his home in Berkeley.

Flame Delhi wants a little more money.

Strange how every human breast records the same ambition. Delhi has communicated his wishes to Boss Ewing of the Seals, who will probably carry through in behalf of the red headed flinger.

Feminine fan writes in to learn how the Boston girls paid tribute to the Red Sox and suggests that Oakland fanettes might do the same for the White Sox. She says "Please tell me, Bill."

Gwen, Sis, I'm bashful, but they do say that one windy day in Boston during the world's championship, the scenery was enough to hurt your eyes. That's where the White Sox have the advantage. Buy 'em by the boat.

The New York boxing commission last night announced the new list of referees who will be assigned by the commission to handle all future bouts in the Empire State. They are:

Charles White, Billy Roche, Tim Hurst, Billy John, Patsy Haley, Dan Tene, Johnny Pollock, Bill Brown, Thomas O'Connell, James Donovan, Jim Smith, Florida Barnett, Sam Kelly, William Rothwell (Young Corbett), Joseph Burke, Thomas P. Stewart, Joe Cole, John McEvoy, Charles Dravcott, Harry Fisher, Jack Neichman and Edward Oldes, all of New York; also Edward McBride and Maurice Collins, Buffalo; Tommy Ryan, Syracuse; Jacob Pilder, Birmingham; James Brode, Albany and Jack Skelly, Yonkers.

That will be some excursion which Oakland will send to Sacramento on the first Sunday of the baseball season, when the Oaks meet Harry Wolverton's team. We'll hate to beat Harry almost as much as Harry would hate to beat us. There will be two special trains of 12 cars each to the Capital with an organized bunch of rooters. The Oakland enthusiasts have already read the entire east wing of the Sacramento grandstand.

Otto Berg has an X-ray photograph taken yesterday of his injured right hand and arm. One of the small bones above the wrist is fractured, and Otto will have to lay off for awhile. It is pretty tough on this sturdy fellow, who is so popular with the public.

Won't it be great when "Wotell," the new Los Angeles recruit, comes to bat in a pinch and the ump announces his name to the batters.

Jim Corbett had a lot of fun by impersonating a lot of "home-town" stars in his monologue yesterday. He was some good ones on Gene Van Court, Jim Heaney and some of the "old boys."

When the welcoming crowd charged on Corbett yesterday, Jim removed every hat from the prices of his friends and shook his head sorrowfully. "What's the matter with you boys?" he exclaimed. "There isn't a gray hair in my head, and look at you fellows!" In the bunch of "boys" were Eugene Van Court, H. Eppinger Jr., Len Demier, J. F. Heaney, Guy Smith and others.

COAST OUTFIELDERS HAVE HEAVIEST HITTERS EVER

Pitchers Face Hardest Task in League History the Coming Season

By BILLY FITZ.

President Al Baum calls attention to the fact that the Pacific Coast league outfielders this year will constitute the fastest and hardest-hitting players in the history of the league. Glancing over the roster there is every indication that this is perfectly true; in fact, there is plenty of joy ahead for the fans who love to see the sluggers in action and the fielders tearing for the fence on the run. Practically every team in the coast league will boast a 300 outfield this year.

Let's start with Oakland, where we have Coy, 297; Zachary, 277; Schum, 252; Becker, 215; Abbott, 208. In the height of the season Zachary was far better than a 300 hitter but illness pulled him down. Likewise Abbott while in good condition is a much heavier hitter than the figures indicate. In fact, Zachary and Coy are a terror to the opposing pitcher, no matter who he is, and they can be depended to hit the fence when occasion demands. Coy led the league in home runs with 19 and Zachary slugged out a four cushion slam 11 times. The two new hitters are supposed to be even better than was Fairborn, who hit at 200 last season.

Passing to Venice (Venice, last year) everybody knows that head-hittering trio is represented in Carlisle, Kauter and Bayless. The last named finished the season with a percentage of .315. Kauter had 310 and Carlisle a new record or better hitter, failed to get started right and dropped to .288. They are all streaks of lightning in fielder and pitcher to prove very dangerous in the race.

The Angels outfield is made up of Maggart, Rube Ellis, and Moore, all 200 hitters and very fast men. Supporting them are Lober, Howard, Driscoll and Wotell.

Portland comes along with Chadbourne, Justin Fitzgerald, Kruker and Donnie

Pittsford only hit 355 last year, that's all. Boone finished at 309 and Kruker at 299. There was no no-burn on the Ducks' outfielders.

Sacramento has two new outfielders, Kenworthy and Moran from the Washington club, whom Wolverton bought because they were rated as 300 hitters in a class A league and supposed to be very fast on their feet. In addition to the newcomers there will be the veteran, Donnan Van Duren, who finished with 318 last year.

If there is any one redeeming feature of the Pacific coast the Seals is the outfield timber. Every fan in Oakland knows Willie Hogan and Izzy Hoffman. When the latter is right, he is a wonder and he probably plays better ball against the Oaks than for them. Hogan comes from the St. Louis Browns and is a wonder and he plays the Coast pitchers. Matty McIntire will probably show up just as soon as he gets the right turns. He led the league last year with 38, while Del Howard crowded him with 358. Then there is Mandorff and Zimmerman, who are very fast and strong.

Yes, sir, the fans can surely expect to see some clouting and some base running this season, even if the season does start on All Fool's day.

Chubby Boxers Figure to Hammer Away on Even Terms

By THE TIMEKEEPER

When Friday night rolls around, Tommy McFarland and Red Watson are likely to be the main attraction of the four-round bout as the feature event of Promoter Dan Curran's card at the event of Friday night at the Casino. Every fan will be looking for the two new fighters to go in Oakland, in which McFarland gained a shade better over the red-top, there has been little love lost between the two.

McFarland has been aching for another chance. Both had discarded science in favor of the power to annihilate the opponent better than their opponent.

Roy Moore and Johnnie O'Leary, at 122 pounds, are an interesting season. The winner probably will be matched with Henry Hickey for the 21st of the month, and this in itself will give added attraction to the meeting.

Roy Campbell of Oakland is picked by many to take the measure of the "Mon-time Kid" but the visitor may surprise.

ART GUEST SIGNS UP, COMING TO COAST EARLY

Art Guest, the crack little infielder from the Connecticut League, wired this morning to Manager Mize from Shelton, Conn., that he had accepted a contract and desired to come out at once with his wife. The Oakland management will forward transportation at once.

Indication that every man on the Oaks roster has now received his contract came this morning with the receipt in Oakland of the check for the new season.

That Jesse Becker of Portsmouth, who has been located by Uncle Sam at Hubble, Mich. Becker will probably come out with the White Sox.

HIT BY AUTO, MAY NOT LIVE

Filipino Receives Serious Injuries; Autoists Fail to Stop

Struck down by an automobile at Seventh and Webster streets last evening, Antonio Clesio, a Filipino living at 110 Fourth street, was removed to the Receiving hospital suffering from injuries which may prove fatal. He received a fractured rib, bruised arm and considerable internal injuries which were treated by Dr. Reine and Stewards Cone and Davidson.

The injured man was taken to the hospital by H. Wehbe, an auto salesman, while the drivers in the machine which struck him left without disclosing their identity. Inspectors McSorley and Emigh, assisted by Wehbe, searched for more than an hour after the accident and finally located the auto in front of the Forum cafe. This morning San Dunn of 2122 Dwight way, Berkeley, and H. Kronick, 124 Fifth street, appeared at the police station and were taken before Prosecuting Attorney Ezra Decoto. A warrant was not issued as the two men technically had not violated a law as they were on the right side of the street and were said not to have been exceeding the speed limit at the time. In case the injuries of Clesio terminate fatally, further action will probably be taken.

Kronick was driving the machine at the time of the accident, having just taken the wheel from Dunn, the regular driver.

WOMAN IS GRANTED TAXICAB LICENSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The first license ever granted here to a woman as a taxicab driver is in the possession today of Miss Charlotte DeLafield, a member of the Women's Political Union, and a leader in the votes for women cause. The young woman does not propose to enter active competition with the present taxicab drivers, but has procured a license to drive a taxicab in the annual spring parade of women suffragists, for which arrangements are being made. This is one of many ideas which will be carried out to show the possible fields for the employment of women.

MOTOR CHEMICAL CONTRACTED FOR

Pope - Hartford Fire Fighters Making Good With San Francisco.

(By EDMUND CRINNION.)

A huge motor driven combination chemical engine and hose wagon is to be added to the fire department of San Francisco as soon as it can be brought out from the Pope-Hartford factory. The contract for the machine was awarded last week to the Consolidated Motor Car company. It will be of the same pattern as similar wagons now in the service of San Francisco, according to Harry Welbe of the Pope-Hartford company of Oakland, and the reports of the various city departments which have been using motor equipment for many months show that it is no longer an experiment.

"We have many reports from the fire and police departments of San Francisco showing just how efficient our motor cars are in the city's service," Welbe says. "There can be no doubt that virtually all of the municipal vehicles will be of this type in the near future. Our own experience shows that the hills of San Francisco offer no obstacle to modern motor trucks. The Pope-Hartford now in use have been at work right along, without accident or heavy repair expense. The city equipment is well looked after and that is all that is necessary."

"It might be interesting to determine just how much the fire department has been speeded up since motor trucks were added to its equipment. I have personally seen half a dozen minor fires where the chemical would be on the job and have the blaze under control before even a horse drawn chief's buggy arrived. Speed is what a modern department requires. They have to catch a fire before it gets a start, and that is what the motor equipment permits them to do."

HAYNES CAR POPULAR.

The Haynes is popular with municipal authorities all over the state, according to Fred Hauger of the Haynes Auto Sales company, which reported two sales to town officers this week.

A. F. Stevens, Mayor of Healdsburg, bought new model Haynes touring car during his recent visit to Oakland. His trip was largely made to receive delivery of the car, and the Mayor, who is an ardent motorist, drove his machine back to Healdsburg himself, and drove it home. Mann said he was glad to get the machine as it would be of great service to him in his official duties.

KISSEL KAR EXHIBITS.

The Buffalo KisselKar company made an attractive exhibit of KisselKars at the automobile show at the Buffalo last week while just a little to the east, in Rochester, the Ball-Washburne company exhibited the handsome Wisconsin line. The KisselKar is gradually getting in Western New York the same firm foothold which it holds in the country's two extreme sections, the Pacific Coast and New England.

HOLD-UP VICTIMS ARE NUMEROUS

Thugs of San Francisco Use Many Methods and Play Fearless Game.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Several hold-ups occurred throughout the city during the late hours of the night and early this morning, and the victims appeared at police headquarters this morning and asked for the apprehension of the culprits.

Peter J. Woods, who lives at the Royal Hotel, 668 Clay street, declares that he met two men in the lobby and accepted their invitation to visit them in their room. He was seized by the throat on entering, and robbed of $5. The detectives have the names under which the pair registered, but believe they are notorious. Two boys, both under 18 years of age, are said to have been responsible for the hold-up of Arch Hayward of 149 Clarendon street, within a few feet of his home at midnight. They obtained $5.25 and used a revolver to intimidate their victim.

While crossing Columbia square this morning, George F. Lee of 384 Seventh street was attacked by two footpads, who took $5 cents, his purse and keys. They afterwards returned the pocketbook and keys, telling Lee that he might need them.

John Silva of 9 Hinekey street was in the act of opening his door, having already put the key in the lock, when three thugs seized him from behind and took $12.

THIS WOMAN IS CLEVER TRICKSTER

Has Attended Exclusive White House Receptions for Years Under Alias.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—When Secretary Charles D. Elliot opened the White House today he greeted with astonishment on reading a frank and free confession from a Washington woman that she had "broken into" the White House reception for years under false colors. Mr. Elliot would not disclose the identity of the writer whose ingeniousness he acknowledged, commanded his admiration.

"I have been attending the White House receptions for years," said the letter, "but I am tired of using some one else's ticket. Will you please send me one for the next night in my own name?"

The coveted card admitting guests to the White House at the four big affairs of the winter are much sought after, and especially so this season, when President Wilson had intimated that the reception would be abandoned during his administration. Every description of subterfuge is resorted to in order to obtain tickets. Today's appeal, however, was the most novel that has come under Secretary Elliot's notice. No information was forthcoming as to whether it would be successful.

College Chums—Mother and Son Parted by Death

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—An unusual companionship between mother and son was ended last night, when S. M. Collins, a freshman at the University of Illinois, died at his home here. The mother was also a student in the same classes with her boy. They were registered at the school of agriculture.

When young Collins was preparing to go to the university last fall his mother said: "I'll go with you." At Champaign they lived at the same house, had adjoining seats in the class rooms, studied together and attended university functions and meetings together.

The companionship attracted wide attention at the university, where the two became known to the students as "the pals," and the boy as "the model son."

Mrs. Collins will not return to her studies.

ONION WINNER IN LEGAL CONTEST

TOLEDO, Kans., Feb. 6.—The onion won a legal skirmish here when County Attorney Forrester refused to issue a warrant for Willie Thompson, charged by Miss Lucretia Campbell, a neighbor, with permitting the cooking of onions in his home, the odors from which filled her rooms, causing her much discomfort.

Mr. Campbell declared that the odor of onions was poisonous to her and upon that contention she based her demand that Thompson be arrested.

"The state of Kansas will not lend its aid to banish the onion from the home," said the county attorney. "Miss Campbell's remedy is an injunction, issued in the District Court, if she can obtain one."

Forrester paid a high tribute to the healthful properties of the onion, quoted W. H. Green as saying she attributed her health and wealth to eating the vegetable daily.

POET STERLING CATCHES OCTOPUS

Author of "Wine and Wizardry" Lands Monster of the Sea.

George Sterling, who writes poetry, has assumed a new role. He went fishing at Carmel-by-the-Sea the other day and captured an octopus.

Now there are some mighty fishermen at Carmel who haven't done as well as that. Mr. David Starr Jordan has a cottage above the beach. He is a great authority on fish. Professor Vernon Kellogg of Stanford is another scientist who knows what's what in fishing.

But George Sterling, who was merely traveling along in a little boat and thinking up poetry, hooked a leviathan of the sea and battled with him in a way that would make Congress tussle with Money Trust look like landing a dog fish with cat-bait.

It was a Homeric struggle. Sterling was lying on his back in the bottom of the boat. One knee was crossed over the other, his fingers were interlocked under the back of his neck, and the fish-line, running from a knot about his wrist over his toes and into the sea at the stern of the boat, dangled lazily. Suddenly there was a swift tug. Sterling sat bolt upright, hauled to that position by the tightened line. A monster rose to the surface, eyed him belligerently and started after him.

Standing unsteadily on his feet, the poet swung on the monster with an ear. Again and again he smote him. The octopus, wrapping a couple of its arms about the line, was coming up hand over hand.

Sterling fought desperately. He swung in lambs, trochaeals and spondaes. He hit the octopus twice on the pendometer with the oar, twice three times on the hexameter, and finally in the tetrameter. It was too much for the octopus. A couple of prods in the diaphragms and he allowed himself to be pulled into the boat, unconscious.

Sterling carried him to shore and installed him in a bathtub, out under a tree in the back yard.

Now, when the cost of living winds its tentacles about the Sterling household, or when literary trust refuses to recognize one of California's premier verse-johners, Sterling goes out in the back yard and reflects joyfully over the fact that he has an octopus of his own.

When he peeps into the tub and sees the rather plain zoological specimen, he has acquired, Sterling gets thrills that never lurked at the bottom of the Wine of Wizardry.

CLEVELAND OFF ON LONG TOUR

'Round-the-World Steamship Sails From S. F. Amid Gay Demonstration.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—The steamship Cleveland of the Hamburg-American line, with colors flying and 500 tourists waving handkerchiefs and shouting good-byes, bid farewell to this port this morning and sailed on its last round-the-world journey. Mayor Rolph, with several supervisors and interested citizens, went to see the liner off and followed her in her course down the bay on a fire tug. The tug kept right in the path of the vessel and the last good-byes were signalled out near the lighthouse.

Of the passengers on board 125 are Californians and many of these took passage after learning of the enjoyable nature of the journey on what is a veritable floating palace.

The officials of the line have announced that the Cleveland is to take off the round-the-world run and make trips between New York and San Francisco via the Panama canal.

AGED MAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO

Victim Left Unconscious on Mission Road; Condition Serious.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Run down by an automobile in the darkness at an early hour this morning George Trull, 65 years old, of 214 Eleise street, was left lying unconscious in Mission road and remained there for a long period before he was found and given medical aid. The motorman of an owl car discovered Trull's insensible form after the headlights had flashed the fact of his presence near the gutter when the car took a curve at Courtland avenue.

Investigation showed that the aged man was in a serious condition and he was lifted on the car and rushed to St. Luke's hospital. There he revived sufficiently to say that an automobile had struck him, but declared that he could remember nothing more. It is evident that he was in a serious condition and he was lifted on the car and rushed to St. Luke's hospital. SEEKS ARREST OF CITY ATTORNEY BEN WOOLNER

Recting a lengthy tale of alleged discrepancies on the part of the street railway company, A. Hunsie, a socialist, who had been arrested before Deputy District Attorney W. B. Smith yesterday and demanded the immediate arrest of City Attorney Ben F. Woolner. Hunsie claimed that the official had reported that the street railway company maintained a regular schedule over its Leona Heights line contrary to facts in the case. He said that Woolner should be arrested for that reason. He was advised by the district attorney to obtain a copy of the report and verify his statements before he caused Woolner to be placed behind bars.

SAYS HORN TOLD OF 2 WEDDINGS

District Attorney of San Mateo County Relates Alleged Confession.

REDWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—The Rev. Frank Horn, until two weeks ago pastor of the First Baptist church at Richmond, confessed yesterday, according to District Attorney Franklin Swart of San Mateo county, that he had been a principal in two wedding ceremonies, but that the first had been faulty.

Horn, whose real name is said by one of the women claiming him to be De Toveira, is in the county jail at Redwood on a charge of bigamy. When the De Toveira woman first started his confession, the claim that he was a "single" pastor was his true husband denied ever having seen her and said that a bad twin brother, who looked like him, must be her husband.

GAMBLING HALLS OF N. Y. RAIDED

"Higher Ups" Upset by Spectacular Move of Police and Firemen.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The higher-up circles of the gambling fraternity were upset today by raids which were made simultaneously last night upon eight big alleged gambling establishments in the Fifth avenue and theatrical districts.

Several features of the raids were spectacular and novel. For the first time in the history of the police firemen were used. As the police in eight taxicabs, under command of Inspector John F. Dwyer, swooped down upon the suspected places, firemen gained entrance by either pretending to be inspecting the building, or by shouting "fire." If successful in getting in, the police squads followed; if not, axes and crowbars forced entrance.

But in all of the eight places there was no one to arrest. In some mysterious manner the alleged proprietors had all been "tipped off" and have butlers left in charge. The collection of gambling instruments and furnishings, however, was one of the finest the police ever laid hands on. The seven vans loaded carts to station houses were valued at $25,000.
